PREFACE TO THE FIFTH EDITION.

A few new Acts have been added in this edition. The sections of the Acts have been printed in bold types. All the amendments made by the Government of India (Adaptation of Laws) Order, 1937, and the Government of Burma (Adaptation of Laws) Order, 1937, as well as other amendments by different enactments of the Legislature passed till September, 1938, have been incorporated in the texts of the Acts and references to rulings have been carefully checked and brought uptodate. An addenda containing the Amending Acts which were in their passage through the Legislature when the book was in the press and promulgated since then is given with the book. The three major Acts in the Second Volume are carefully revised and the Indian Penal Code is entirely re-written and enlarged. I trust and sincerely hope that the profession will find this edition much more useful than its predecessors.

PREFACE TO THE FOURTH EDITION

FOR enhancing the utility of the publication I have added 42 new Acts in this edition. All the amendments up to the date of the publication have been incorporated and new laws have been brought up to June, 1935. The three major Acts in Vol II have been thoroughly annotated. The size of the volumes have been changed in deference to the wishes of my readers. Thus the volume of the book has been increased by more than 50 p. e. But I have kept the price of the book the same. I shall deem my labour amply rewarded if it proves of any service to the busy practitioners and ever busy judiciary.

"(3) Legislation can be undertaken in one of two ways —

(a) By a Bill to apply the British Air Force Act with suitable modifications.

(b) By a self-contained Bill bearing the same general relation to the British Air Force Act as the Indian Army Act bears to the British Army Act.

(4) As regards alternative (a) section 177 of the British Air Force Act gives power to the Legislature of India, or of any of the Dominions or Colonies, to extend or apply all or any of the provisions of the British Army Act to the officers, non-commissioned officers subject to such adaptations, modifications and exceptions as may be specified. The course thus indicated has been carefully considered by the Government of India, who do not, however, propose to adapt it, partly on account of the unsuitability of the British Act to an Indian force, and still more on account of the very complicated nature of the adaptations, modifications and exceptions that would be necessary. CHAPTER II

ENROLMENT ATTESTATION DISMISSAL DISCHARGE AND REDUCTION

Notes—This Chapter covers Chapters II and III of the Indian Act and part of Chapter IV of the Act. It relates to the ordinary enrolment and discharge of airmen and to the powers of dismissal and reduction which may be used to secure efficiency as distinct from the powers of dismissal and reduction by way of punishment exercised by courts martial.

Clause 9 is new and is a statutory guarantee that all airmen in the Indian Air Force shall be Indians.

Otherwise the Chapter closely follows the Indian model with only the necessary substitution of authorities. The whole scheme of the Chapter differs widely from the corresponding provisions of the Air Force Act but they have found to be suitable to the Indian Army and are more likely to be suitable to the personnel of the Indian Air Force than the elaborate provisions of the Air Force Act. In particular the Bill contemplates a period of probation between enlistment and attestation during which any inefficient recruit may be discharged without formality. It also contemplates an elastic period of service to be determined by rules as with the Indian Army. An airman will be enrolled in the first instance for the prescribed minimum period of service and after completion of this period he will serve on without further enrolment until he is discharged or until he seeks his discharge by giving due notice—Statement of Objects and Reasons

7 Upon the appearance before the prescribed enrolling officer of any person desirous of being enrolled the enrolling officer shall read and explain to him or cause to be read and explained to him, in his presence the conditions of the service for which he is to be enrolled, and shall put to him the questions set forth in the prescribed form of enrolment and shall, after having cautioned him that if he makes a false answer to any such question he will be liable to punishment under this Act record or cause to be recorded his answer to each such question.

8 If, after complying with the provisions of section 7 the enrolling officer is satisfied that the person desirous of being enrolled fully understands the questions put to him and consents to the conditions of service, and if he perceives no impediment he shall sign and shall cause the person to sign the enrolment paper and the person shall be then deemed to be enrolled.

9 The enrolling officer shall not cause any person to sign the enrolment paper unless he is satisfied that such person is a subject of His Majesty or of a Prince or Chief in India, and—

- (a) is of unmixed Indian descent or
- (b) if he is of mixed Indian and non-Indian descent, is domiciled in India, or
- (c) if he is of unmixed non-Indian Asiatic descent, is domiciled in India and his father and grandfather were domiciled in India.

Notes — 'We are not satisfied that clause 9 in the Bill as introduced secures the intention underlying it, namely, that the Indian Air Force should be definitely of an Indian character. We have redrafted the clause accordingly' — Report of the Select Committee

10 Every person who has for the space of six months been in the receipt of air force pay and been borne on the rolls of any unit shall be deemed to have been duly enrolled, notwithstanding any illegality or irregularity in his enrolment

Notes — This clause as it stood emphasised the disabilities of a person who after an irregular enrolment has served for six months. We have amended the clause so that no emphasis is laid either on disabilities or on privileges — Report of the Select Committee

Persons to be attested 11 The following persons shall be attested, namely —

(a) all persons enrolled as combatants,

(b) all other enrolled persons prescribed by the "Central Government"*

12 (1) When a person who is to be attested is reported fit for duty, or has completed the prescribed period of probation, an oath or affirmation shall be administered to him in the prescribed form by his commanding officer in front of his unit or such portion thereof as may be present, or by any other prescribed person

(2) The form of oath or affirmation prescribed under this section shall contain a promise that the person to be attested will be faithful to His Majesty, his heirs and successors, and that he will serve in the India Air Force and go wherever he is ordered by air, land or sea, and that he will obey all commands of any officer set over him, even to the peril of his life

(3) The fact of an enrolled person having taken the oath or affirmation directed by this section to be taken shall be entered on his enrolment paper, and authenticated by his signature and by the signature of the officer administering the oath or affirmation.

Notes — We have provided in sub clause (3) that the attestation of an enrolled person shall be authenticated by the signature of the person attested as well as the signature of the attesting officer — Report of the Select Committee

Dismissal by Governor General in Council

- (b) the cause of his dismissal or discharge, and
- (c) the full period of the service in the Indian Air Force

17 (1) Any enrolled person who is entitled under the conditions of his enrolment to be discharged, or whose discharge is ordered by competent authority, and who, when he is so entitled or ordered to be discharged, is serving out of India and requests to be sent to India, shall, before being discharged be sent to India with all convenient speed

(2) Any person subject to this Act who is dismissed from the service and who, when he is so dismissed, is serving out of India, shall be sent to India with all convenient speed

Provided, that where any such person is sentenced to dismissal combined with any other punishment, such other punishment or, in the case of a sentence of imprisonment, a portion of such other punishment, may be inflicted before he is sent to India pen military prisoners for about ten years and the present policy is to leave it in abeyance. Prisoners sentenced to transportation serve out their term in rigorous imprisonment. There is no point therefore in retaining this obsolete punishment in the Bill. Again the Indian law has no punishment of penal servitude. It is understood that in England there is little practical difference between penal servitude and imprisonment with hard labour, and that these two punishments are of the imprisonment in India. In any case there is no choice to replace both penal servitude and imprisonment with the Bill replaces (b) and (c) of both Acts by—

simple for a term not exceeding two

The draft is as close an approximation to the Force Act as may be devised to meet Indian conditions kept under one head (b) for convenience in drafting to imprisonment make no differentiation between the 113 and 114)

(2) The punishment of detention has been introduced in order to avoid the imposition of imprisonment in certain cases with its necessary consequence of dismissal as it may be desirable to punish an offender with some severity and yet retain him in the Indian Air Force

(3) The other punishments—These follow section 43 of the Indian Army Act, with one minor variation of substance in (b) where reprimand or severe reprimand may be awarded to a warrant officer or non-commissioned officer as well as to an officer. This follows section 44(mm) of the Air Force Act

Section 49 of the Indian Army Act which provides for sentences of solitary confinement is omitted. This omission is important and brings the Bill into line in this respect with the Air Force Act.—Statement of Objects and Reasons

19 Punishments may be inflicted in respect of offences committed by persons subject to this Act, and convicted by court-martial, according to the scale following, that is to say,—

(a) death

(b) imprisonment, which shall be of two degrees, namely —

(i) long imprisonment, which shall be rigorous and for a term not less than three years and not exceeding fourteen years, and

(ii) short imprisonment, which may be rigorous or simple, for a term not exceeding two years,

(c) in the case of airmen, detention for a term not exceeding two years,

(d) dismissal from the service,

(e) in the case of officers and warrant officers' suspension from rank, pay and allowances for a period not exceeding two months,

(f) reduction, in the case of a warrant officer or a non-commissioned officer, to a lower grade, or to a lower rank or to the ranks,

(g) in the case of officers warrant officers and non-commissioned officers, forfeiture or seniority of rank,

(h) in the case of officers, warrant officers and non-commissioned officers, reprimand or severe reprimand —

(i) forfeitures and stoppages as follows, namely —

(i) forfeiture of service for the purpose of promotion, increased pay, pension or any other prescribed purpose,

(ii) forfeiture of any military, 'naval' * or air force decoration or military, 'naval' * or air force reward,

(iii) forfeiture, in the case of a person sentenced to dismissal from the service, of all arrears of pay and allowances due to him at the time of such dismissal,

* The word quoted has been inserted by Act XXV of 1934,

(iv) stoppages of pay and allowances until any proved loss or damage occasioned by the offence of which he is convicted is made good;

(v) on active service, forfeiture of pay and allowances for a period not exceeding three months

Notes—In regard to sub-clause (iii) of clause (i) we felt uncertain of the precise scope of the words 'and of his public money' and we consider that forfeiture should be confined to arrears of pay and allowance. We have accordingly deleted these words.—Report of the Select Committee

20 Where in respect of any offence under this Act there is specified a particular punishment, there may be awarded in respect of that offence instead of such particular punishment (but subject to the other provisions of this Act as to punishments and regard being had to the nature and degree of the offence) any one punishment lower in the above scale than the particular punishment

21. (1) Where any person, subject to this Act and under the rank of warrant officer, on active service is guilty of any offence, it shall be lawful for a court-martial to award for that offence any such punishment as may be prescribed as a field punishment. Field punishment shall be of the character of personal restraint or of hard labour but shall not be of a nature to cause injury to life or limb

(2) Field punishment shall for the purpose of commutation, be deemed to stand in the scale of punishments next below dismissal

22 A sentence of a court-martial may award, in addition to or without any one other punishment, any one or more of the punishments specified in clauses (d), (f), (h) and (i) of section 19

23 A warrant officer or non-commissioned officer sentenced by court-martial to imprisonment, detention, field punishment or dismissal from the service, shall be deemed to be reduced to the ranks

24 When any enrolled person on active service has been sentenced by court-martial to dismissal or to imprisonment, whether combined with dismissal or not, the prescribed officer may direct that such person may be returned to serve in the ranks, and where such person has been sentenced to imprisonment, such service shall be reckoned as part of his term of imprisonment

25 (1) The 'Central Government' * may prescribe the minor punishments to which persons subject to this Act shall be liable without the intervention of a court-martial, and the officer or officers by whom, and the extent to which, such minor punishments may be awarded

(2) Detention and, in the case of persons subject to this Act on active service, any prescribed field punishment may be specified as minor punishments

Provided that—

(a) the term of such detention or field punishment shall not exceed twenty-eight days, and

(b) detention or field punishment shall not be awarded to any person of or above the rank of non-commissioned officer, or who, when he committed the offence in respect of which it is awarded was of or above such rank.

(3) The provisions of sections 77, 78 and 79 shall apply to the proceedings of officers empowered to award minor punishments under this section as if such officers were courts martial

Notes—Sub-clause (3) has been extracted Act (reproduced as clauses 77, 78 and 79 of the scope to courts martial) the application of it less likely to be overlooked if this transposition

Deduction from pay and allowance

26 (1) The following penal deductions may be made from the pay and allowances of an officer of the Indian Air Force, that is to say,—

(a) all pay and allowances due to an officer who absents himself without leave or overstays the period for which leave of absence has been granted to him unless a satisfactory explanation has been given to his commanding officer and has been approved by the 'Central Government,' *

(b) any sum required to make good such compensation for any expenses loss damage or destruction occasioned by the commission of any offence as may be determined by the court-martial by whom he is convicted of offence;

(c) any sum required to make good the pay of any officer or airman which he has unlawfully retained or unlawfully refused to pay,

(d) any sum required to make good any loss, damage or destruction of public or service property which after due investigation, appears to the 'Central Government' * to have been occasioned by any wrongful act or negligence on the part of the officer

(2) The following penal deductions may be made from the pay and allowances of an airman that is to say,—

(a) all pay and allowances for every day, of absence either on desertion or without leave or as a prisoner of war, and for every day of imprisonment or detention awarded by a Criminal Court, a court-martial or an officer exercising authority under section 25, or of field punishment awarded by a court-martial or such officer,

(b) all pay and allowances for every day whilst he is in custody on a charge for an offence of which he is afterwards convicted by a Criminal Court or court-martial or on a charge of absence without leave for which he is afterwards awarded imprisonment detention or field punishment by an officer exercising authority under section 25

(h) any sum required to pay a fine awarded by a Criminal Court, a court-martial exercising jurisdiction under section 58 or an officer exercising authority under section 25

Provided that the total deductions from the pay and allowances of a person subject to this Act made under clauses (c) to (g), both inclusive, shall not (except in the case of a person sentenced to dismissal) exceed in any one month one-half of his pay and allowances for that month

Explanation.—For the purposes of clauses (a) and (b) —

(i) no person shall be treated as absent, imprisoned or detained, unless the absence, imprisonment, or detention has lasted six hours upwards except where the absence prevented the absentee from fulfilling any air force duty which was thereby thrown on some other person

(ii) a period of absence imprisonment, or detention which commences before and ends after midnight may be reckoned as a day,

(iii) the number of days shall be reckoned as from the time when the absence, imprisonment, or detention commences and

(iv) no period of less than twenty-four hours shall be reckoned as more than one day

Notes—Sub clause (1) relating to officers reproduces section 137 of the English Act. Sub clause (2) relating to other ranks follows section 50 of the Indian Army Act except the explanation which follows section 101 (2) of the English Act—Statement of Objects and Reasons

27 Any sum authorized by this Act to be deducted from the pay and allowances of any person may, without prejudice to any other mode of recovering the same, be deducted from any public money due to him other than a person

30 The pay of an officer or airman of the Indian Air Force shall be paid without any deduction other than the deductions authorized by this Act or by any other enactment for the time being in force or prescribed by the Central Government *

Notes—Section 30 introduces into the Bill a provision based on section 136 of the English Act. The reference on that section to the Royal warrant is replaced in the Bill by the words prescribed by the Governor General in Council. By this means the Governor General in Council can adopt the provisions of the Royal warrant regarding deductions from pay and so secure equality of treatment between the Royal Air Force and the Indian Air Force.—Notes on Clauses

CHAPTER IV

AIR FORCE OFFENCES

Notes—Both the English and the Indian Acts use, in most of the sections on this subject the phrases or such less punishment as in this Act mentioned' and 'on conviction by court martial. The first phrase has been covered generally by a small adjustment of the drafting of clause 20 and the latter phrase by the inclusion of clause 74 (c) and both phrases have accordingly been omitted throughout. The Bill states shortly the maximum punishment which may be imposed, and leaves the question of jurisdiction and the imposition of lesser punishment to the general provisions.—Notes on Clauses

Notes—Section 40 is an abridged version of section 13 (1) of the English Act where of the shortening is justified by the simpler structure of the Indian Air Force. As with clause 39 the elaborate provisions relating to repeated offences have been omitted as inapplicable.—Notes on Clauses

41 Any person subject to this Act who being cognizant of any desertion of a person subject to this Act, does not forthwith give notice to his commanding officer, or take any steps in his power to cause the deserter or intending deserter to be apprehended, shall be punishable with short imprisonment

Notes—This section reproduces section 14 of the English Act omitting clause (2) which is on abetment.—Notes on Clauses

42 Any person subject to this Act who—
Absence from duty without leave

(a) absents himself without leave, or
(b) fails to appear at the time fixed at a parade or place appointed for exercise or duty, or goes from thence without leave before he is relieved, or without necessity quits his duty or duties or
(c) being an airman, when in camp, or garrison or elsewhere, is found beyond any limits fixed or in any place prohibited by any general local or other, order, without a pass or written leave from his superior officer, or

(d) being an airman without leave from his superior officer, or without due cause, absents himself from any school when duly ordered to attend there, shall be punishable with short imprisonment

Notes—Section 42 is section 15 of the English Act, with the following changes—

(a) In sub clause (b) an amendment has been made to cover the case of an airman who appears at the place of parade but appears so late that his appearance is virtually a non-appearance

(b) No differentiation is made between officer and airman.—Notes on Clauses

43 Any officer or warrant officer subject to this Act who behaves in a manner unbecoming his position and character shall notwithstanding anything contained in section 20 be dismissed from the service
Scandalous conduct of officer

Notes—The reference to clause 20 will prevent the imposition of imprisonment or any other penalty other than dismissal.—Notes on Clauses

Scandalous conduct punishable with long imprisonment

(a) steals any property of 'the Crown'* or dishonestly misappropriates or converts to his own use any property of the 'Crown'* entrusted to him or

(b) dishonestly receives or retains any property in respect of which an offence under clause (a) has been committed knowing or having reason to believe it to have been stolen or dishonestly misappropriated or converted, or

tion, or of any person subject to this Act or serving with or attached to the Indian Air Force, or dishonestly misappropriates or converts to his own use any such property entrusted to him, or

(e) dishonestly receives or retains any property in respect of which an offence under clause (d) has been committed, knowing or having reason to believe it to have been stolen or dishonestly misappropriated or converted, shall be punishable with long imprisonment

Notes—Sections 44 and 45 include several offences which are also civil offences and of two years the others range from three years to seven years. As these punishments could be awarded by courts martial to a person subject to the Act by virtue of section 58 unless courts martial are given punishment is justified by the very serious from the service point

Scandalous conduct punishable with short imprisonment

45 Any person subject to this Act, who—

(a) does any act, not otherwise specified in this Act, with intent to defraud, or to cause wrongful gain to one person or wrongful loss to another person, or

(b) malingers or feigns or produces disease or infirmity himself, or intentionally delays his cure or aggravates his disease or infirmity, or

(c) with intent to render himself or any other person unfit for service, voluntarily causes hurt to himself or any other person, or

46 Any person subject to this Act who is found in a state of

Intoxication intoxication whether on duty or not on duty, shall be punishable, if an officer, with dismissal from the service and if an airman with short imprisonment

Provided that where the offence of being intoxicated is committed by an airman not on active service or on duty, the sentence imposed shall not exceed detention for a period of six months

Notes—In contrast with clause 43, this allows a less punishment than dismissal to be imposed on an officer—Notes on Clauses

(a) when in command of a guard, picket, patrol or post, releases without proper authority, whether voluntarily or otherwise, any person committed to his charge, or is committed to his charge, or whom it is his duty to keep or guard, shall be punishable if he has acted voluntarily, with long imprisonment, and if he has not acted voluntarily, with short imprisonment.

Irregular keeping in custody. 48. Any person subject to this Act who—

(a) unnecessarily detains a person in arrest or confinement without bringing him to trial or fails to bring his case before the proper authority for investigation, or

(b) having committed a person to the custody of any officer, non-commissioned officer, provost-marshal or assistant provost-marshal fails without reasonable cause to deliver at the time of such committal, or as soon as practicable, and in any case within twenty-four hours thereafter, to the officer, non-commissioned officer, provost-marshal or assistant provost-marshal, into whose custody the person is committed, an account in writing signed by himself of the offences with which the person so committed is charged, or

(c) being in command of the guard, does not as soon as he is relieved from his guard or duty, or if he is not sooner relieved, within twenty-four hours after a person is committed to his charge, give in writing to the officer to whom he may be ordered to report that person's name and offence so far as known to him, and the name and rank of the officer or other person by whom he was charged, accompanied, if he has received the account as above in this section mentioned, by that account, shall be punishable with short imprisonment

Notes—The Indian Army Act, 1911, in the matter of the protection of persons in custody against improper detention gives only a broad injunction in section 124 (3). It is deemed desirable to supplement this by adopting the penalties of the English Act for irregular keeping in custody—Notes on Clauses

49 Any person subject to this Act, who, being in lawful custody escapes or attempts to escape, shall be punishable with short imprisonment.

Escape from custody

Offences relating to property 50 Any person subject to this Act who—

Notes—This section is added to the Indian Air Force Act which has been found to be in the Indian Army Act, 1911, and in the Indian Air Force Act, 1911.

56 Any person subject to this Act who attempts to commit an air force offence or to cause such an offence to be committed, and in such attempt does any act towards the commission of the offence may, where no express provision is made by this Act for the punishment of such attempt, be punished with the punishment provided in this Act for such offence.

Notes—This section is added to section 23 A of the Indian Air Force Act which was introduced into the Act in 1918.

57 Any person subject to this Act who abets the commission of any air force offence punishable under the Army Act, the Naval Discipline Act or that Act as modified by the Indian Navy (Discipline) Act, 1934, the Air Force Act or the Indian Army Act, 1911, such offence being of the same nature as any air force offence, shall be punishable with the punishment provided in this Act for such air force offence.

Notes—Section 57 is important. It is based on section 40 of the Indian Air Force Act but amplifies it so that it will cover a soldier who would have been punished by the Indian Acts and is liable to the punishment he deserves committed by himself.

58 (1) Any person subject to this Act who at any place in or beyond British India commits any civil offence, and if charged therewith under this section, shall be liable to be tried by court-martial and to be punished as follows, that is to say:—

(a) if the offence is one which would be punishable under the law of British India with death or with transportation, he shall be liable to suffer any punishment other than whipping, assigned for the offence by the law of British India; and

(b) in other cases, he shall be liable to suffer any punishment, other than whipping, assigned for the offence by the law of British India, to him in pursuance of this Act, in good order and air force discipline.

Provided that a person subject to this Act who at any place in British India or at any place in which "the Central Government or the Crown Representative" * exercises powers and jurisdiction by virtue of 'the Government of India Act, 1935, or of any order in Council made under the Foreign Jurisdiction Act, 1890' † and while not on active service, commits an offence of murder or culpable homicide against a person not subject to this Act or an offence of rape, shall not be deemed to be guilty of an air force offence and shall not be tried by court-martial

(2) The power of a court martial to charge and to punish any person under this section shall not be affected by reason of the civil offence with which such person is charged being also an air force offence

Notes—Section 58 is a compromise between section 41 of the English Act and sections 41 and 42 of the Indian Act. The English Act begins by a general statement that all civil offences committed by persons subject to this Act shall be triable by court martial

In their treatment of this subject the two Acts are not reconcilable and the Bill proposes to confer a jurisdiction which will cover the jurisdiction conferred by both Acts. In particular it follows the Indian Act in making offences punishable under Chapter VI of the Penal Code triable by court martial. It therefore exempts from the jurisdiction of courts martial only offences of murder or culpable homicide against a person not subject to this Act and offences of rape when these offences are committed in British India (and certain other places) and while the offender is not on active service.

The certain other places above referred to are described in the clause as places in which the Governor General in Council exercises powers and jurisdiction by virtue of the 'Indian (Foreign Jurisdiction) Order in Council 1902' and these places have been introduced by the clause as follows:—

Clause 58 avoids the anomaly and will make all airmen in all cantonments in India subject to the same jurisdiction.—Notes on Clauses

ARREST AND PROCEEDINGS BEFORE TRIAL

Custody of offenders

59 (1) Any person subject to this Act who is charged with an offence may be taken into air force custody

(2) Any such person may be ordered into air force custody by any superior officer.

(3) The charge against every person taken into air force custody shall, without unnecessary delay, be investigated by the proper authority, and as soon as may be, either proceedings shall be taken for punishing the offence, or such person shall be discharged from custody

Notes—¹ This Chapter collects into one place all provisions of the Indian Act relating to arrest inquiries concerning absconders and provost marshals—all matters preceding trial. The clauses follow the Indian Act and require no special comment.—Notes on Clauses

60 Whenever any person subject to this Act, who is accused of any offence under this Act, is within the jurisdiction of any Magistrate or police-officer, such Magistrate or officer shall aid in the apprehension and delivery to air force custody of such person upon receipt of a written application to that effect signed by his commanding officer

61 (1) Whenever any person subject to this Act deserts, his commanding officer shall give written information of the desertion to such civil authorities as, in his opinion, may be able to afford assistance towards the capture of the deserter, and such authorities shall thereupon take steps for the apprehension of the said deserter in like manner as if he were a person for whose apprehension a warrant had been issued by a Magistrate, and shall deliver the deserter, when apprehended, to air force custody

(2) Any police-officer may arrest without warrant any person reasonably believed to be subject to this Act and to be travelling without authority, and shall bring him without delay before the nearest Magistrate, to be dealt with according to law.

62 (1) When any person subject to this Act has been absent without due authority from his duty for a period of twenty one days, a Court of inquiry shall as soon as practicable, be assembled and, upon oath or affirmation administered in the prescribed manner, shall inquire respecting the absence of the person, and the deficiency, if any, of property of 'the Crown' * entrusted to his care or of his arms, ammunition, equipments, instruments clothing or necessities, and, if satisfied of the fact of such absence without due authority or other sufficient cause, the Court shall declare such absence and the period thereof, and the said deficiency, if any; and the commanding officer of the unit to which the person belongs shall enter in the court-martial book of the unit a record of the declaration

(2) If the person declared absent does not afterwards surrender, or is not apprehended, he shall, for the purposes of this Act, be deemed to be a deserter

63 For the prompt and instant repression of irregularities and offences committed in field or on the march, provost-marshals may be appointed by the Air Officer Commanding His Majesty's Air Forces in India, and the powers and duties of such provost marshals shall be regulated according to the established custom of war and the rules of the service.

* The words 'the Crown' have been substituted for the words 'the Government' by order of 1937.

64. The duties of a provost-marshal so appointed are to take charge of persons in air force custody, to preserve good order and discipline and to prevent breaches thereof by persons subject to this Act.

He may at any time arrest and detain for trial any person subject to this Act who commits an offence and may also carry into effect any punishments to be inflicted in pursuance of the sentence of a court-martial.

CHAPTER VI

CONSTITUTION, JURISDICTION AND POWERS OF COURTS-MARTIAL

65 For the purposes of this Act there shall be three kinds of courts-martial, that is to say—

- (1) general courts-martial
- (2) district courts-martial and
- (3) field general courts-martial

ifications, this Chapter follows sections 53 64 74 75 and 76 relating to summary provision for summary courts martial in

66 A general court-martial may be convened by the "Central Government" or by any officer empowered in this behalf by warrant of the "Central Government."

67. A district court-martial may be convened by any authority having power to convene a general court-martial, or by any officer empowered in this behalf by warrant of any such authority.

68 A warrant issued under section 66 or section 67 may contain such restrictions, reservations or conditions as the authority issuing it may think fit

69 The following authorities shall have power to convene a field general court martial that is to say,—

(a) an authority empowered in this behalf by an order of the "Central Government,"

(b) on active service, the commanding officer of the forces in the field, or any officer empowered by him in this behalf,

(c) the commanding officer of any detached portion of the Indian Air Force on active service, when, in his opinion, it is not practicable, with due regard to discipline or the exigencies of the service, that an offence should be tried by a general court-martial, and circumstances prevent a reference to higher authority

70 A general court-martial shall consist of not less than five officers each of whom must have held a commission during not less than three whole years and of whom not less than four must be of a rank not below that of a flight lieutenant

Composition of general courts martial Notes—This section adopts the English section 48 (3) in preference to the Indian section 57. Though the word officers will include commissioned officers of the British Army and Indian Army it will be desirable to constitute courts martial under the Act as far as possible from officers of the Indian Air Force and of the Royal Air Force and the normal requirement of some officers provided in the Indian Act will be troublesome. The omission of section 59 of the Indian Act is consequential.—Notes on Clauses

Composition of district courts martial 71 A district court-martial shall consist of not less than three officers

Composition of field general courts martial 72 A field general court martial shall consist of not less than three officers

73 (1) If a court-martial after the commencement of a trial is reduced below the smallest number of officers of which it is by this Act required to consist, it shall be dissolved

(2) If, on account of the illness of the accused before the finding, it is impossible to continue the trial, a court-martial shall be dissolved

(3) Where a court-martial is dissolved under this section the accused may be tried again

Jurisdiction and powers of courts martial generally 74 Save as otherwise provided by or under this Act, courts martial shall have—

(a) jurisdiction to try and to punish all air force offences, and all civil offences committed by persons subject to this Act,

(b) exclusive jurisdiction to try all air force offences which are not also civil offences, and

(c) exclusive power to award the punishments specified in this Act

Notes—Section 74 has been introduced for a shortening of the drafting of Chapter IV conviction by court martial (b) clauses to general principles of jurisdiction which Clauses

Jurisdiction and powers of general and field general courts martial 75 A general or field general court-martial shall have power to try any person subject to this Act for any offence made punishable therein, and to pass any sentence authorized by this Act

Jurisdiction and powers of district courts martial 76 A district court-martial shall have power to try any person subject to this Act other than an officer for any offence made punishable therein and to pass any sentence authorized by this Act other than a sentence of death or imprisonment for a term exceeding two years

77 When any person subject to this Act has been acquitted or convicted of an offence by a court-martial or by a Criminal Court, or has been summarily dealt with for an offence under section 25, he shall not be liable to be tried again for the same offence by a court martial

78 No trial by court-martial of any person subject to this Act for any offence (other than an offence of mutiny, desertion or fraudulent enlistment) shall be commenced after the expiration of three years from the date of such offence, and no such trial for an offence of desertion (other than desertion on active service) or of fraudulent enlistment shall be commenced if the person in question has, subsequently to the commission of the offence served continuously in an exemplary manner for not less than three years with any portion of His Majesty's regular forces

Explanation—For the purposes of this section "mutiny" means any of the offences specified in section 35

79 Any person subject to this Act who commits any offence against it may be tried and punished for such offence in any place whatever

80 When a Criminal Court and a court-martial have each jurisdiction in respect of a civil offence, it shall be in the discretion of the prescribed air force authority to decide before which Court the proceedings shall be instituted and if that authority decides that they shall be instituted before a court-martial, to direct that the accused person shall be detained in air force custody

81 (1) When a Criminal Court having jurisdiction is of opinion that proceedings ought to be instituted before itself in respect of any civil offence it may, by written notice, require the prescribed air force authority at the option of such authority either to deliver over the offender to the nearest Magistrate to be proceeded against according to law or to postpone proceedings pending a reference to the 'Central Government' *

(2) In every such case the said authority shall either deliver over the offender in compliance with the requisition or shall forthwith refer the question as to the Court before which the proceedings are to be instituted for the determination of the 'Central Government' * whose order upon such reference shall be final

Notes—We have made a small drafting amendment in sub clause (2) in order to place it beyond dispute that the option given in the clause lies with the prescribed air force authority —Report of the Select Committee

82 (1) Notwithstanding anything contained in section 26 of the General Clauses Act, 1897,† or in section 403 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898‡ a person convicted or acquitted by a court-martial may be afterwards tried by a Criminal Court for the same offence or on the same facts

* The words 'Central Government' have been substituted for the words 'Governor General in Council' by G. I. Order of 1937

† I of 1897

‡ V of 1893

(2) If a person sentenced by a court martial in pursuance of this Act to punishment for an offence is afterwards tried by a Criminal Court for the same offence or on the same facts that Court shall in awarding punishment have regard to the air force punishment he may already have undergone

PROCEDURE OF COURTS MARTIAL

President

83 At every court martial the senior member shall sit as president

Notes—This Chapter is derived from the provisions of sections 7 to 93 of the Indian Act. Sections 9 and 93 (3) relating to summary courts martial have been omitted. Section 87 of the Indian Act instead of being given a place of its own is included as a proviso in clause 86 of the Bill. Also section 176A of the Indian Act has been included here as being part of the procedure of court martial while sitting—Notes on Clauses

84 Every general court martial shall and every district court-martial may be attended by a Judge advocate, who shall be either an officer belonging to the department of the Judge Advocate General in India or if no such officer is available a fit person appointed by the convening officer

(4) When no challenge is made or when challenge has been made and disallowed or the place of every officer successfully challenged has been filled by another officer to whom no objection is made or allowed the Court shall proceed with the trial.

86 (1) Every decision of a court martial shall be passed by an absolute majority of votes and where there is an equality of votes as to either finding or sentence the decision shall be in favour of the accused

Provided that no sentence of death shall be passed without the concurrence of two thirds at the least of the members of the Court

(2) In matters other than a challenge or the finding or sentence, the president shall have a casting vote

87 An oath or affirmation in the prescribed form shall be administered to every member of every court-martial and to the Judge advocate at the beginning of the trial.

(6) If any document in such custody is, in the opinion of any District Magistrate, Chief Presidency Magistrate, High Court or Court of Session wanted for the purpose of any court-martial, such Magistrate or Court may require the postal or telegraph authorities, as the case may be to deliver such document to such person as such Magistrate or Court may direct

(7) If any such document is, in the opinion of any other Magistrate or of any Commissioner of Police or District Superintendent of Police, wanted for any such purpose, he may require the postal or telegraph authorities, as the case may be, to cause search to be made for and to detain such document pending the orders of any such District Magistrate, Chief Presidency Magistrate or Court

90 (1) Whenever, in the course of a trial by court-martial, it appears to the Court that the examination of a witness is necessary for the ends of justice, and that the attendance of such witness cannot be procured without an amount of delay, expense or inconvenience which in the circumstances of the case, would be unreasonable, such Court may address the Judge Advocate General in order that a commission to take the evidence of such witness may be issued

(2) The Judge Advocate General may then if he thinks necessary, issue a commission to any Presidency Magistrate, District Magistrate or Magistrate of the first class, within the local limits of whose jurisdiction such witness resides, to take the evidence of such witness.

(4) The Magistrate or official to whom the commission is issued, or, if he is the District Magistrate he or such Magistrate of the first class as he appoints in this behalf, shall proceed to the place where the witness is or shall summon the witness before him and shall take down his evidence in the same manner, and may for this purpose exercise the same powers, as in trials or warrant cases under the Code of Criminal Procedure 1898†

(5) Where the commission is issued to such official as is mentioned in sub-section (3) he may delegate his powers and duties under the commission to any official subordinate to him whose powers are not less than those of a Magistrate of the first class in British India.

(6) When the witness resides out of India, the commission may be issued to any British consular officer, British Magistrate or other British official competent to administer an oath or affirmation in the place where such witness resides.

(7) The prosecutor and the accused person in any case in which a commission is issued may respectively forward any interrogatories in writing which the Court may think relevant to the issue and the Magistrate or official to whom the commission is issued shall examine the witness upon such interrogatories.

EXECUTION OF SENTENCES AND DISPOSAL OF PROPERTY.

111. In awarding a sentence of death a court-martial shall, in its discretion direct that the offender shall, suffer death by being hanged by the neck until he be dead, or shall suffer death by being shot to death

Notes—This Chapter covers Chapter IX of the Indian Act and adds to it section 120B which also relates to matters subsequent to the trial. It omits section 110 which relates to solitary confinement.—Notes on Clauses

112 Whenever any person is sentenced under this Act to imprisonment the term of his sentence shall, whether it has been revised or not, be reckoned to commence on the day on which the original proceedings were signed by the president

113 Whenever any sentence of imprisonment is passed under this Act, or whenever any sentence so passed is commuted to imprisonment, the commanding officer of the person under sentence, or such other officer as may be prescribed, shall forward a warrant in the prescribed form to the officer in charge of the civil prison in which such person is to be confined, and shall forward him to such prison with the warrant

Provided that, in the case of a sentence of imprisonment for a period not exceeding three months, the confirming authority, or, in the case of a sentence which does not require confirmation, the Court may direct that the sentence shall be carried out by confinement in air force custody

Provided further that on active service a sentence of imprisonment may be carried out by confinement in such place as the officer commanding the forces in the field may, from time to time, appoint

Notes—This section corresponds to section 107 of the Indian Act but has been widened in its scope to cover imprisonment either rigorous or simple and section 105 of the Indian Act has accordingly not been reproduced. This has been done in order to avoid the practical difficulties which will attend the serving of a long term of simple imprisonment in air force custody. Proper accommodation will be lacking and the presence in barracks of a prisoner to whom duties cannot be given is not in the interest of discipline.—Notes on Clauses

114 Whenever, in the opinion of the Air Officer commanding His Majesty's Air Forces in India, any sentence or portion of a sentence of imprisonment cannot, for special reasons conveniently be carried out in accordance with the provisions of section 113, such officer may direct that such sentence or portion of sentence shall be carried out by confinement in any civil prison or other fit place

115. When any sentence of detention is passed under this Act, or when any sentence so passed is commuted to detention, the punishment shall be carried out by detaining the offender in any military or air force detention barracks, detention cells or other military or air force custody

116 Whenever an order is duly made under this Act setting aside or varying any sentence, order or warrant under which any person is confined in a civil prison, a warrant in accordance with such order shall be forwarded by the prescribed officer to the officer-in-charge of the prison in which such person is confined

117 Where a sentence of transportation is imposed by court-martial under section 58, the offender, until he is transported, shall be dealt with in the same manner as if he had been sentenced to rigorous imprisonment, and shall be deemed to have been undergoing his sentence of transportation during the term of his imprisonment and the provision made is in accordance with the ordinary law.—Notes on Clauses

118 When a sentence of a fine is imposed by a court-martial under section 58 whether the trial was held within British India or not a copy of such sentence, signed and certified by the president of the Court or the officer holding the trial, as the case may be, may be sent to any Magistrate in British India, and such Magistrate shall thereupon cause the fine to be recovered in accordance with the provisions of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898 * for the levy of fines as if it was a sentence of fine imposed by such Magistrate

119 (1) After the conclusion of a trial before any court martial, the Court or the authority confirming its finding or sentence or any authority superior to such authority, or, in the case of a finding or sentence which does not require confirmation, the officer commanding the unit within which the trial was held, may make such order as it or he thinks fit for the disposal by destruction, confiscation, delivery to any person claiming to be entitled to possession thereof, or otherwise, of any property or document produced before the Court or in its custody, or regarding which any offence appears to have been committed or which has been used, for the commission of any offence

(2) Where any order has been made under sub-section (1) in respect of property regarding which an offence appears to have been committed, a copy of such order signed and certified by the authority making the same may, whether the trial was held within British India or not be sent to a Magistrate in any presidency town or district in which such property for the time being is and such Magistrate shall thereupon cause the order to be carried into effect as if it was an order passed by such Magistrate under the provisions of the Code of Criminal Procedure 1898 *

Explanation—In this section the term "property" includes, in the case of property regarding which an offence appears to have been committed, not only such property as has been originally in the possession or under the control of any party but also any property into or for which the same may have been converted or exchanged, and anything acquired by such conversion or exchange whether immediately or otherwise

Notes — The Ancient Monuments Preservation Act 1901 (VII of 1901) does not contain any provisions empowering the Government (i) to control excavations by or enlist the aid of archaeologists whether Indian or foreign outside the Department or universities and learned societies in excavation work or (ii) to regulate the disposal of antiquities found by such outside agencies. The only section of the Act which bears on the control of excavation is section 20 but the scope of this is limited to restricting or regulating operations such as mining quarrying or blasting which menace the safety of an ancient monument. Experience of countries such as Egypt and Mesopotamia shows that the help of expert outside agencies as well as of learned bodies in India would by inserting three new sections relating for the purpose of disclosing an Proposed section 20 gives the Governor (General in Council after consulting the Local Government power to declare any area to be a protected area, and vests all rights in antiquities found in such area in Government. Any person removing an antiquity from a protected area will be guilty of theft. Proposed section 20A gives the Governor General in Council power to make rules to regulate excavation in protected areas and to regulate the division of all antiquities found between Government and the licensee. Proposed section 20B will enable Government to require any land in which there have been important archaeological discoveries in order that the area may be properly developed either by Government's own agencies or by licensees or by both. —Notes on Clauses

Section 20 — The intention of the proposed section 20 is that when the Governor General in Council has reason to believe that antiquities exist in any area he should be empowered to protect them against destruction or removal and to preserve them for the benefit of the nation generally. Accordingly the section empowers him to declare the area to be protected and thereupon ownership and possession of all antiquities buried in the area vest in the Government. The intention is not, however, to interfere in any other ways with the rights of the owners or occupiers of land in the protected area such as their rights to sink wells, excavate foundations for buildings, &c. on. We consider that the section does not bring this out sufficiently clearly and we have amended it accordingly. We have made a consequential amendment in clause (d) of sub-section (1) of proposed section 20A (now 20B). The other two sections as amended by us now definitely limit the powers of the Governor General in Council to the restriction and regulation of excavation for archaeological purposes. — Report of the Select Committee

Section 20A — The Bill as drafted provided merely for the declaration of a protected area and for the acquisition of the area if after investigation it is found that the area contains an ancient monument or antiquities of national interest and value. It made no provision whereby officers of Government or licensees would have power to enter upon a protected area in order to make the necessary investigations. We consider it desirable that officers of the Archaeological Department and licensees acting under the supervision of these officers should have this power, and that a statutory provision should be made for the payment of compensation to the owners or occupiers of land for all damages done. We have inserted a new section 20A accordingly where under these officers and licensees may enter upon any private land but only with the written permission of the Collector, who will see to it that the entry does not cause unnecessary inconvenience.

In this connection we considered the question of inserting a provision in the Act requiring that the stage of investigation should not be prolonged indefinitely to the prejudice of the owners and occupiers of land but we are of opinion that a statutory provision might be undesirably inflexible. We have, however, received an assurance from the Government that the rules will provide that ordinarily the stage of investigation shall not be allowed to continue for longer than one year and that after one year the area shall be either abandoned or acquired under the provisions of section 20C. — Report of the Select Committee

(e) “sentence” means a sentence of transportation or imprisonment, whether originally passed on a person subject to the principal Act or passed by way of reduction or commutation, and “sentenced” has the same meaning

|| In British Burma in clause (f) of section 2 substitute ‘Governor’ for ‘Commander in Chief in India’ (vide G B Order of 1937)

3 (1) Where a person subject to the principal Act is sentenced the confirming officer when confirming the sentence, or, in the case of a sentence which does not require confirmation, the officer holding the trial or the President of the court martial when passing sentence may, notwithstanding anything in the principal Act, direct that such person be not committed until the orders of a superior military authority have been obtained

(2) A superior military authority may, in the case of any such offender so sentenced,—

(a) direct that, until his orders have been obtained, such offender shall not be committed, and

(b) suspend the sentence whether or not the offender has already been committed

(3) Where, in accordance with any order passed under sub-section (2), a sentence is suspended, the offender shall, whether he has been committed or not, forthwith be released

Notes—This section is an enabling section. It empowers the confirming officer when the sentence requires confirmation or the officer holding the trial or the President of the court martial, when passing the sentence to suspend the sentence, in spite of anything contained in the Army Act 1911 (Act VIII of 1911). Similarly the Commander in Chief in India or any officer empowered under the Army Act, 1911 (Act VIII of 1911) to convene general courts martial or summary courts martial may direct that the offender shall not be committed until his orders are obtained or may suspend the sentence of the offender

Calculation of periods of sentence under suspension

4 Any period during which a sentence is under suspension shall be reckoned as part of the term of such sentence

Notes—The suspended period by virtue of the section will be considered as part of the term of such sentence

Power to set aside suspension or order remission

5 A superior military authority may, at any time whilst a sentence is suspended under this Act order—

(a) that the offender be committed to undergo the unexpired portion of the sentence, or

(b) that the sentence be remitted

Notes—This section empowers the Commander in Chief in India or any officer empowered under the Army Act 1911 to convene general courts martial or summary general courts martial to order that an offender should be imprisoned for the unexpired period of his sentence after suspension or his sentence be remitted altogether. The circumstances under which such sentence can be remitted is given in section 6

6 Where a sentence has been suspended under this Act, the case may at any time, and shall at intervals of not more than four months, be reconsidered by a competent military authority, and if, on any such reconsideration, it appears to such authority that the conduct of the offender since his conviction has been such as to justify a remission of the sentence, he shall, if he is not also a superior military authority, refer the case to a superior military authority

Notes—Any time after suspension the conduct of the offender may be enquired into by any competent military authority. If his conduct appears satisfactory to the enquiring military authority he may, if he is authorised remit the sentence or he may recommend the case to a superior military authority for the remission of his sentence

Procedure on further sentence of offender whose sentence is suspended

7 Where an offender, while a sentence on him is suspended under this Act, is sentenced for any other offence, the

(c) if the further sentence is for a period of three months or less and is not suspended under this Act, the offender shall be committed on that sentence only and the previous sentence shall (subject to any order which may be passed under section 5 or section 6) continue to be suspended

8 The powers conferred by this Act shall be in addition to, and not in derogation of, any powers as to the mitigation, remission or commutation of sentences conferred by the principal Act, and a superior military authority shall, as regards persons subject to that Act, be an authority having power to mitigate, remit or commute sentence under section 112 of that Act

Notes —This section saves the provision of section 112 of the Indian Army Act (Act VIII of 1911)

9 Where in addition to any other sentence the punishment of dismissal has been awarded by a court-martial, and such other sentence is suspended under this Act, then, notwithstanding anything contained in the principal Act or in any rules made thereunder, such dismissal shall not take effect until so ordered by a superior military authority

Provided that, if a sentence is remitted under this Act, the punishment of dismissal shall also be remitted

Notes —When an offender has been sentenced as well as dismissed from his service and the sentence has been suspended the order of dismissal cannot be given effect to unless confirmed by a superior military authority Where the sentence is remitted under s 6, the punishment of dismissal shall also be remitted

ACT NO XVIII OF 1891.

An Act to amend the Law of Evidence with respect to Bankers' Books

(Received His Excellency's the G -G's Assent on the 1st October, 1891.)

WHEREAS it is expedient to amend the Law of Evidence with respect to Bankers' Books, It is hereby enacted as follows :—

Title and extent 1 (1) This Act may be called the Bankers' Books Evidence Act, 1891

(2) It extends to the whole of British India,*

Notes—This Act is based on English Bankers' Books Evidence Act, 1879 (42 Vict c 11). The reason of its enactment is thus stated "It is sometime since the Extent—This Act has been declared in force in the Southal Parganas by Reg 3 of 1873, s 3 as amended by Reg 3 of 1899, s 3, in Upper Burma (except the Shan States) by Act 13 of 1898 s 4 and the British Baluchistan by Reg 2 of 1913, s 3

Definitions

2 In this Act, unless there is something repugnant in the subject or context—

(1) "company" means a company registered under any of the enactments relating to companies for the time being in force in "any part of His Majesty's dominions or incorporated by an Act of Parliament or by an Indian law or by Royal Charter or by Letters Patent."†

(2) "bank" and "banker" mean—

(a) any company carrying on the business of bankers,

(b) any partnership or individual to whose books the provisions of this Act shall have been extended as hereinafter provided,

"(c)† any post office savings bank or money order office."

(3) "bankers' books" include ledgers, day books, cash-books, account-books, and all other books used in the ordinary business of a bank.

(4) "legal proceeding" means any proceeding or inquiry in which evidence is or may be given, and includes an arbitration

(5) "the Court" means the person or persons before whom a legal proceeding is held or taken :

(6) "Judge" means a Judge of [a High Court]*

(7) "trial" means any hearing before the Court at which evidence is taken and

(8) 'certified copy' means a copy of any entry in the books of a bank together with a certificate written at the foot of such copy that it is a true copy of such entry that such entry is contained in one of the ordinary books of the bank and was made in the usual and ordinary course of business and that such book is still in the custody of the bank, such certificate being dated and subscribed by the principal accountant or manager of the bank with his name and official title

Company—This definition was added by Act VII of 1900. The original definition of company in the Companies Act, 1862, was "any company or association of persons, whether incorporated or not, carrying on business in the United Kingdom and in the case of a company, having a share capital." This definition was discovered that the entries were by copies. This definition does not include foreign banks unless they are included by notification issued under section 8.—Vide Statement of Objects and Reasons to Act VII of 1900

Bank and Banker—In the English Act the definitions of bank and banker are thus given—In this Act the expressions bank and banker mean any person persons partnership or company or firm or the holder of a bill of exchange made a return to the Comptroller of the Customs under the Act relating to the duties of the Comptroller of the Customs whether the bank or banker is a bank or banker or not.

3 The Local Government may from time to time, by notification in the official Gazette, extend the provisions of the Act to the books of any partnership or individual carrying on the business of bankers within the territories under its administration, and keeping a set of not less than three ordinary account books namely, a cash book, a day-book or journal and ledger and may in like manner rescind any such notification

Notes—The Local Government may include all foreign banks under the Act by virtue of the power of the notification given under the section.

4 Subject to the provisions of this Act, a certified copy of any entry in a banker's book shall in all legal proceedings, be received as prima facie evidence of the existence of such entry, and shall be admitted as evidence of the matters transactions and accounts therein recorded in every case where, and to the same extent as the original entry itself is now by law admissible, but not further or otherwise

Notes.—This section corresponds to sections 3 4 and 5 of the English Act Before the existence of any such entry. The term "certified copy" is defined in clause (8) of required statement should be subscribed by the bank with his name and official title. But the required statement must be given by a partner or officer of the bank either orally or by an affidavit sworn before any commissioner or person authorised to take affidavits (Vide ss 1 and 5 of Stat 42 Vict, c 11). This section makes copies of such entries evidence against any one. Thus the entries in a defendant's bankers' books are made evidence against the plaintiff *Harding v. 5 No officer of a bank shall in any legal proceeding to which the bank is not a party be compellable to produce any banker's book the contents of which can be proved under this Act, or to appear as a witness to prove the matters, transactions and accounts therein recorded, unless by order of the Court or a Judge made for special cause.

Notes—A banker is only exonerated by this section from personal attendance in Court when he complies with the provisions of section 4. Emmott v Star News paper & Co, 62 L J Q B 77. Except when the bank is a party this section exempts the banker from being compelled to produce any book that can be proved by a copy or to appear as a witness unless specially ordered to do so. S 94 (3) of the Criminal Procedure Code does not exempt Bankers' books from production before the Police and an officer in charge of a police station conducting an investigation is therefore entitled to inspect them even without an order of Court. S 5 of the Bankers' Books Evidence Act does not prevent him from doing so as proceedings before him are not a legal proceedings as defined in the Act. Price v Emperor, 17 Lah 593=38 P L R 1042.

6 (1) On the application of any party to a legal proceeding the Court or a Judge may order that such party be at liberty to inspect and take copies of any entries in a banker's book for any of the purposes of such proceeding, or may order the bank to prepare and produce, within a time to be specified in the order, certified copies of all such entries, accompanied by a further certificate that no other entries are to be found in the books of the bank relevant to the matters in issue in such proceeding, and such further certificate shall be dated and subscribed in manner hereinbefore directed in reference to certified copies.

(2) An order under this or the preceding section may be made either with or without summoning the bank, and shall be served on the bank three clear days (exclusive of bank holidays) before the same is to be obeyed, unless the Court or Judge shall otherwise direct.

(3) The bank may at any time before the time limited for obedience to any such order as aforesaid either offer to produce their books at the trial or give notice of their intention to show cause against such order, and thereupon the same shall not be enforced without further order.

have inadequate knowledge of local conditions and there are not wanting indications that a provincial bar would not readily submit to being governed by a body which would necessarily contain a majority of members insufficiently acquainted with its special needs and difficulties

Courts—The word Courts is not defined in this Act It means however the highest Courts

§ Governor

High Courts—In the first instance this Act applies to the High Courts of Judicature at the Bar Council G O W N 1080

Commencement of the Act—So far as the six High Courts mentioned in para (2) are concerned sections 2 17 18 and 19 come into operation at once. As regards the remaining portion of the Act no notification has yet been published by the Governor General in Council

Interpretation

2 (1) In this Act, unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context,—

(a) "advocate" means an advocate entered in the roll of advocates of [a High Court]* under the provisions of this Act.

†[(b) "Advocate-General" includes, where there is no Advocate-General, the Government Advocate and, where there is no Advocate-General or Government Advocate such officer as the Local Government may declare to be the Advocate-General for the purposes of this Act.

(c) "High Court" means a High Court to which this Act applies,] and

(d) "prescribed" means prescribed by rules made under this Act.
 "(2) In this Act 'the Provincial Government' means, in relation to any High Court, the Provincial Government of the Province in which the High Court has its principal seat" ‡

Notes—These definitions are for the purposes of this Act. Unless there be any repugnancy in the subject or context these meanings are to be applied.

Advocate—According to clause (4) of section 3 of the General Clauses Act "a barrister" means a barrister of England or Ireland or a member of the Faculty of Advocates in Scotland. But an advocate under this section means an advocate in the roll of advocates of a High Court under the provisions of this Act.

Advocate General—The definition is for the purpose of this Act and it should not be extended to other Acts. "Advocate General" includes acting Advocate General and is entitled to right of pre audience in respect of all business. 33 Bom L R 1500 = 130 Ind Cas 793 A I R 1932 Bom 71 (F B)

Constitution of Bar [Council] §

Constitution and incorporation of Bar Councils

3 (1) For [every]|| High Court a Bar Council shall be constituted in the manner hereinafter provided

(2) [Every]|| Bar Council so constituted shall be a body corporate having perpetual succession and a common seal with power to acquire and hold property, both moveable and immoveable, and to contract,

* In British Burma for the words 'a High Court' substitute the word 'the High Court' (vide G B Order of 1937) and shall by the name of the Bar Council of the High Court [for which it has been constituted,]* sue and be sued

Every High Court—A Council can be constituted for every High Court and not for every province

Body Corporate—It is a corporation aggregate like a trade union and is created by this Act. Perpetual succession a common seal and right to acquire and hold property are incidental to all corporations. A corporation aggregate says Lord Coke is only an abstraction and rest only in intendment and consideration of law. It is invisible and immortal it has no soul neither it is subject to the imbecilities of the body

Composition of Bar Councils 4 (1) [Every]† Bar Council shall consist of fifteen members, of whom—

(a) one shall be the Advocate General,

(b) four shall be persons nominated by the High Court, of whom not more than two may be Judges of that Court, and

(c) ten shall be elected by the advocates of the High Court from amongst their number

(2) Of the elected members of [every]† Bar Council not less than five shall be persons who have for not less than ten years been entitled as of right to practise in the High Court [for which the Bar Council has been constituted] ‡

[(3) Of the elected members of the Bar Councils to be constituted for the High Courts of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal and at Bombay such proportion as the High Court may direct in each case shall be persons who have, for such minimum period as the High Court may determine, been entitled to practise in the High Court in the exercise of its original jurisdiction, and such number as may be fixed by the High Court out of the said proportion shall be barristers of England or Ireland or members of the Faculty of Advocates in Scotland]§

(4) There shall be a Chairman and Vice-Chairman of [each]† Bar Council elected by the Council in such manner as may be prescribed

Provided that the Advocates-General of Bengal Madras and Bombay shall be Chairman ex-officio respectively, of the Bar Councils constituted for the High Courts of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal, at Madras and at Bombay

Sub clause (b)—We think it desirable to indicate clearly that Judges of the High Court may be represented on the Bar Council and have provided that two out of the four persons nominated by the Court may be Judges.—Report of the Select Committee

[THE INDIAN BOILERS ACT, 1923] *

ACT NO. V OF 1923

An Act to consolidate and amend the law relating to steam boilers

Received the assent of the G-G on the 23rd February, 1923

WHEREAS it is expedient to consolidate and amend the law relating to steam-boilers, It is hereby enacted as follows —

Short title, extent and commencement * [1. (1) This Act may be called the Indian Boilers Act, 1923]

(2) It extends to the whole of British India, including British Baluchistan and the Sonthal Parganas

(3) It shall come into force on such date as "Central Government"† may, by notification in the "official Gazette"‡ appoint]

Notes—Under the Devolution Rules the regulation of boilers is a provincial subject subject to legislation by the Indian legislature. There are at present seven provincial Boiler Acts some of them were framed many years ago and are out of date, and all of them are inconsistent with each other, the result is that different rules are enforced in different provinces and the anomalous position has been reached that a boiler which is allowed to work up to a certain pressure in one province can only be worked to a much lower pressure when transferred to another province. Further in the interest of safety a boiler requires regular inspection in whatever province it may be situated and it is wrong that in certain provinces no boiler law should be enforced at all. The object therefore of the present legislation is—

* In Burma for section 1, substitute the following section 1 "1 This Act may be called the Boilers Act."

† The words "Central Government" have been substituted for the words "Governor General in Council" by G. I. Order of 1937

(a) to secure uniformity throughout India in all technical matters connected with boiler regulations e.g. standards of construction maximum pressure and

(b) to insist on the registration and regular inspection of all boilers throughout India.

This object can only be attained by an all India Act with uniform regulations throughout the country under the Devolution Rules as explained above it is the function of the Central Government to promulgate such an Act—Statement of Objects and Reasons

Extent—We note that there is local objection to the operation of the Bill being extended to British Baluchistan. Having regard to the objects with which the Bill was introduced we should prefer not to exclude British Baluchistan by statute. Should the Act prove unworkable there the powers of exemption provided in clause (4) can be brought into operation.—Report of the Joint Committee

(b) refuse to register the boiler

Provided that where the Chief Inspector refuses to register a boiler, he shall forthwith communicate his refusal to the owner of the boiler together with the reasons therefor

(5) The Chief Inspector shall, on registering the boiler, order the issue to the owner of a certificate in the prescribed form authorising the use of the boiler for a period not exceeding twelve months at a pressure not exceeding such maximum pressure as he thinks fit and as is in accordance with the regulations made under this Act

(6) The Inspector shall forthwith convey to the owner of the boiler the orders of the Chief Inspector and shall in accordance therewith issue to the owner any certificate of which the issue has been ordered and, where the boiler has been registered, the owner shall within the prescribed period cause the register number to be permanently marked thereon in the prescribed manner

Notes—The object of this section is that all boilers which come within the definition of the term "boiler" shall be registered and a certificate shall be issued to the owner of the boiler. It is essential too that the Inspector should give the owner ten days notice of the issue of the certificate.

Objects and Reasons—We have refused to register a boiler because we think also there is some force there should be a power to issue a certificate or the refusal thereof. We think the provisional order should be issued by a small alteration in clause (9) —

Renewal of certificate

8 (1) A certificate authorising the use of a boiler shall cease to be in force—

(a) on the expiry of the period for which it was granted, or

(b) when any accident occurs to the boiler or

(c) when the boiler is moved, the boiler not being a vertical boiler the heating surface of which is less than two hundred square feet, or a portable or vehicular boiler, or

(d) when any structural alteration, addition or renewal is made in or to the boiler, or

(e) if the Chief Inspector in any particular case so directs, when any structural alteration, addition or renewal is made in or to any steam-pipe attached to the boiler, or

(f) on the communication to the owner of the boiler of an order of the Chief Inspector or Inspector prohibiting its use on the ground that it or any steam-pipe attached thereto is in a dangerous condition

(2) Where an order is made under clause (f) of sub-section (1), the grounds on which the order is made shall be communicated to the owner with the order

(3) When a certificate ceases to be in force the owner of the boiler may apply to the Inspector for a renewal thereof for such period not exceeding twelve months as he may specify in the application

(4) An application under sub-section (3) shall be accompanied by the prescribed fee and on receipt thereof, the Inspector shall fix a date, within thirty days or such shorter period as may be prescribed from the date of the receipt, for the examination of the boiler and shall give the owner thereof not less than ten days' notice of the date so fixed

Provided that, where the certificate has ceased to be in force owing to the making of any structural alteration, addition or renewal, the Chief Inspector may dispense with the payment of any fee

(5) On the said date the Inspector shall examine the boiler in the prescribed manner, and if he is satisfied that the boiler and the steam-pipe or steam-pipes attached thereto are in good condition shall issue a renewed certificate authorising the use of the boiler for such period not exceeding twelve months and at a pressure not exceeding such maximum pressure as he thinks fit and as is in accordance with the regulations made under this Act

Provided that if the Inspector—

(a) proposes to issue any certificate—

(i) having validity for a less period than the period entered in the application, or

(ii) increasing or reducing the maximum pressure at which the boiler may be used, or

(b) proposes to order any structural alteration, addition or renewal to be made in or to the boiler or any steam-pipe attached thereto, or

(c) is of opinion that the boiler is not fit for use the Inspector shall, within forty-eight hours of making the examination, inform the owner of the boiler in writing of his opinion and the reasons therefor, and shall forthwith report the case for orders to the Chief Inspector

(6) The Chief Inspector, on receipt of a report under sub-section (5), may, subject to the provisions of this Act and of the regulations made hereunder, order the renewal of the certificate in such terms and on such conditions, if any, as he thinks fit, or may refuse to renew it

Provided that where the Chief Inspector refuses to renew a certificate, he shall forthwith communicate his refusal to the owner of the boiler, together with the reasons therefor

(7) Nothing in this section shall be deemed to prevent an owner of a boiler from applying for a renewed certificate therefor at any time during the currency of a certificate

Notes — We have added a sub clause after clause (1) providing that the reasons for making an order under clause (1) (c) and now (1) (f) are to be communicated to the owner in the discretion of the owner and, in the case where the certificate is lapsing by reason of an expiry of the period for which it was granted, we should merely penalise the owner by the application of clause (10) if he does not apply for renewal before the lapse. We have provided here again that the Chief Inspector shall communicate in writing to the owner his reasons for refusing to renew a certificate.—Report of the Joint Committee

9 Where the Inspector reports the case of any boiler to the Chief Inspector under sub-section (3) of section 7 or sub-section (5) of section 8, he may, if the boiler is not a boiler the use of which has been prohibited under clause (f) of sub-section (1) of section 8, grant to the owner thereof a provisional order in writing permitting the boiler to be used at a pressure not exceeding such maximum pressure as he thinks fit and as is in accordance with the regulations made under this Act pending the receipt of the orders of the Chief Inspector. Such provisional order shall cease to be in force—

(a) on the expiry of six months from the date on which it is granted, or
(b) on receipt of the orders of the Chief Inspector, or
(c) in any of the cases referred to in clauses (b), (c), (d), (e) and (f) of sub-section (1) of section 8, and on so ceasing to be in force shall be surrendered to the Inspector.

Notes—The object of the provisional order is to allow the owner to work the boiler in certain cases before the final orders of the Chief Inspector have been received. This provision should obviate any inconvenience which might be experienced by the owner if the Chief Inspector was on tour and the reference to him or the receipt of his order was delayed.—Statement of Objects and Reasons

We have made an addition to provide that the pressure entered in a provisional order is to be in accordance with the regulation made under the Act as in the case of a certificate issued under clauses (7) and (8).—Report of the Joint Committee

10. (1) Notwithstanding anything hereinbefore contained, when the period of a certificate relating to a boiler has expired, the owner shall, provided that he has applied before the expiry of that period for a renewal of the certificate, be entitled to use the boiler at the maximum pressure entered in the former certificate pending the issue of orders on the application

(2) Nothing in sub-section (1) shall be deemed to authorise the use of a boiler in any of the cases referred to in clauses (b), (c), (d), (e) and (f) of sub-section (1) of section 8 occurring after the expiry of the period of the certificate

11. The Chief Inspector may at any time withdraw or revoke any certificate or provisional order on the report of an Inspector or otherwise—

(a) if there is reason to believe that the certificate or provisional order has been granted erroneously, or
(b) if the boiler has been granted has sustained injury or has ceased to be in good condition, or
(c) where the "Provincial Government" has made rules requiring that boilers shall be in charge of persons holding certificates

Revocation of certificate or provisional order.

(a) if there is reason to believe that the certificate or provisional order has been granted erroneously, or

(b) if the boiler has been granted has sustained injury or has ceased to be in good condition, or

(c) where the "Provincial Government" has made rules requiring that boilers shall be in charge of persons holding certificates

(d) where no such rules have been made, if the boiler is in charge of a person who is not having regard to the condition of the boiler, in the opinion of the Chief Inspector competent to have charge thereof

Provided that where the Chief Inspector withdraws or revokes a certificate or provisional order on the ground specified in clause (d), he shall communicate to the owner of the boiler his reasons in writing for the withdrawal or revocation, and the order shall not take effect until the expiry of thirty days from the receipt of such communication

Alterations and renewals to boilers

13 Before the owner of any boiler registered under this Act makes any structural alteration, addition or renewal in or to any steam-pipe attached to the boiler, he shall transmit to the Chief Inspector a report in writing of his intention, and shall send therewith such particulars of the proposed alteration, addition or renewal as may be prescribed

Alterations and renewals to steam pipes

14 (1) On any date fixed under this Act for the examination of a boiler, the owner thereof shall be bound—

(a) to afford to the Inspector all reasonable facilities for the examination and all such information as may reasonably be required of him

(b) to have the boiler properly prepared and ready for examination in the prescribed manner; and to submit to the Inspector for the registration of a boiler certificates and other parti-

(2) If the owner fails without reasonable cause, to comply with the provisions of sub-section (1), the Inspector shall refuse to make the examination and shall report the case to the Chief Inspector who shall unless sufficient cause to the contrary is shown, require the owner to file a fresh application under section 7 or section 8, as the case may and may forbid him to use the boiler notwithstanding anything contained in section 10

15 The owner of any boiler who holds a certificate or provisional order relating thereto shall at all reasonable times during the period for which the certificate or order is in force, be bound to produce the same when called upon to do so by a District Magistrate Commissioner of Police or Magistrate of the first class having jurisdiction in the area in which the boiler is for the time being or by the Chief Inspector or by an Inspector or by any Inspector appointed under the Indian Factories Act, 1911,* or by any person specially authorised in writing by a District Magistrate or Commissioner of Police

Notes—The District Magistrate, Commissioner of Police or Magistrate of the first class having jurisdiction in the area in which the boiler is for the time being can compel the owner to produce the certificate

16 If any person becomes the owner of a boiler during the period for which a certificate or provisional order relating thereto is in force, the preceding owner shall be bound to make over to him the certificate or provisional order

Notes—The transfer of certificate is compulsory where transfer of boiler occurs

17 An Inspector may, for the purpose of inspecting or examining a boiler or any steam-pipe attached thereto or of seeing that any provision of this Act or of any regulation or rule made hereunder has been or is being observed at all reasonable times enter any place or building within the limits of the area for which he has been appointed in which he has reason to believe that a boiler is in use

18 (1) If any accident occurs to a boiler or steam-pipe, the owner or person in charge thereof shall, within twenty-four hours of the accident, report the same in writing to the Inspector. Every such report shall contain a true description of the nature of the accident and of the injury, if any, caused thereby to the boiler or to the steam-pipe or to any person, and shall be in sufficient detail to enable the Inspector to judge of the gravity of the accident

(2) Every person shall be bound to answer truly to the best of his knowledge and ability every question put to him in writing by the Inspector as to the cause nature or extent of the accident

Notes—A report of accidents must be made within 24 hours of the accident

19 Any person considering himself aggrieved by—

(a) an order made or purporting to be made by an Inspector in the exercise of any power conferred by or under this Act, or

(b) a refusal of an Inspector to make any order or to issue any certificate which he is required or enabled by or under this Act to make or issue may, within thirty days from the date on which such order or refusal is communicated to him, appeal against the order or refusal to the Chief Inspector

Appeals to appellate authority of the Chief Inspector—

(b) refusing to grant a certificate having validity for the full period applied for or

(c) refusing to grant a certificate authorising the use of a boiler at the maximum pressure desired or

(d) withdrawing or revoking a certificate or provisional order, or

(e) reducing the amount of pressure specified in any certificate or the period for which such certificate has been granted, or

(f) ordering any structural alteration, addition or renewal to be made in or to a boiler or steam-pipe or refusing sanction to the making of any structural alteration addition or renewal in or to a boiler, may, within thirty days of the communication to him of such order, lodge with the Chief Inspector an appeal to an appellate authority to be constituted by the [Provincial Government]* under this Act.

Notes — An appeal lies from the decision of the Chief Inspector within 30 days

22 Any owner of a boiler who refuses or without reasonable excuse neglects—

(i) to surrender a provisional order as required by section 9, or

23 Any owner of a boiler who, in any case in which a certificate or provisional order is required for the use of the boiler under this Act, uses the boiler either without any such certificate or order being in force or at a higher pressure than that allowed thereby, shall be punishable with fine which may extend to five hundred rupees, and, in the case of a continuing offence, with an additional fine which may

Notes—The Government of India Act 1935 assigns the subject of Boilers to the concurrent field. The Government intend to place before the Legislature by 1st April a Bill which will enable them to legislate in that field from 1st April onwards. It is their intention to exercise executive authority so far as the regulations relating to boilers are concerned. CHAPTER II

DEFINITION AND DELIMITATION OF CANTONMENTS

3 (1) The 'Central Government'†† may, by notification in the "official Gazette," § declare any place or places in which any part of His Majesty's regular forces or regular air force is quartered or which, being in the vicinity of any such place or places is or are required for the service of such forces to be a cantonment for the purposes of this Act and of all other enactments for the time being in force, and|| may, by a like notification, declare that any cantonment shall cease to be a cantonment

(2) The 'Central Government'†† may by a like notification, define the limits of any cantonment for the aforesaid purposes

[(3) When any place is declared a cantonment for the first time, the Central Government may until a Board is constituted in accordance with the provisions of this Act, by order make any provision which appears necessary to him either for 'the administration of the Board'] ¶

Notes - Areas which are not actually contiguous but which lie in close proximity can also be included - See notes under section 4

4 (1) The "Central Government"†† may, by notification in the "official Gazette," § declare its intention to include within a cantonment any local area situated in the vicinity thereof or to exclude from a cantonment any local area comprised therein

* In British India the word 'and' after this has been omitted and clause \L has been added by Act 24 of 1936. But in Burma the word 'and' has been retained and clause \L has been omitted.

† In British India the words 'Central Government' have been substituted by G I Order of 1937. In Burma for these words read the word 'Governor' (vide G B Order of 1937).

‡ Certain words after this have been omitted by C I order of 1937 and G B order of 1937.

§ In British India the words 'official Gazette' have been substituted by G I Order of 1937.

|| of 1936

(2) Any inhabitant of a cantonment or local area in respect of which a notification has been published under sub-section (1) may, within six weeks from the date of the notification, submit in writing to the 'Central Government' * through the Officer Commanding-in-Chief, the Command an objection to the notification, and the Central Government * shall take such objection into consideration

(3) On the expiry of six weeks from the date of the notification, the 'Central Government' * may,† after considering the objections, if any, which have been submitted under sub section (2), by notification in the "official Gazette,"‡ include the local area in respect of which the notification was published under subsection (1), or any part thereof, in the cantonment or, as the case may be, exclude such area or any part thereof from the cantonment

Notes —Before the word 'vicinity' the word 'immediate' has been omitted by Act 26 of 1927. The reason for the omission is stated thus: "According to strict construction the expression 'immediate vicinity' might be held to connote actual contiguity. The omission of the word 'immediate' is necessary in order to allow of the inclusion in a cantonment of areas which are not actually contiguous but which lie in close proximity. This follows the wording of section 3 and it is doubtful whether it was ever intended to make a distinction of the kind imputed between the two sections."—Statement of Objects and Reasons

5 When, by a notification under section 4, any local area is included in a cantonment, such area shall thereupon become subject to this Act and to all other enactments for the time being in force throughout the cantonment and to all notifications, rules, regulations, bye-laws, orders and directions issued or made thereunder

6 (1) When, by a notification under section 3, any cantonment ceases to be a cantonment and the local area comprised therein is immediately placed under the control of a local authority, the balance of the cantonment fund and other property vesting in the [Board]§ shall vest in such local authority, and the liabilities of the [Board]§ shall be transferred to such local authority.

(2) When in like manner any cantonment ceases to be a cantonment and the local area comprised therein is not immediately placed under the control of a local authority, the balance of the cantonment fund and other property vesting in the [Board]§ shall vest in His Majesty, and the liabilities of the [Board]§ shall be transferred to the [Central Government] ||

Notes —This section makes provision for cantonment fund in existence before the area is placed under the control of a local authority

* In British India the words 'Central Government' have been substituted by G I Order of 1937. In Burma for these words read the word 'Governor' (vide G B Order of 1937)

Notes on sections 10 to 14—While agreeing that military interests in cantonments must predominate if the area of each cantonment is taken as a whole and that therefore the local bodies responsible for the administration of cantonments must continue to contain an official majority we consider—(a) that statutory provision should be made for some representative of non official interest in all cantonments instead of only in a limited number as at present—in other words, that there should be a Board containing an elected element in every cantonment and (b) that statutory provision should also be made whereby the detailed administration of bazar areas (other than small regimental bazars) should be left as far as possible to the elected representatives of the civil population thereby relieving the official members of the Board of much work in which they are not directly interested. We have given effect to these conclusions in five new sections for sections 10 to 14 of the Act. In section 10 we have laid down the general principle that in every cantonment there should be a Board incorporated under section 11. Section 13 provides that in cantonments with a civil population of 2 500 upwards the membership of the Board while retaining the official majority of one should vary from 9 to 15 in proportion to the civil population. In smaller cantonments the section provides in place of the Corporation sole now prevailing for a Board of three members one of whom is to be elected. We recognise that in the case of—(a) military operations or (b) serious administrative troubles it may be

11 Governor to decide whether cantonment Board shall be constituted—The Governor may by notification in the Gazette order in respect of any cantonment that a cantonment Board shall be constituted therein and may by a like notification order that any Board so constituted shall cease to exist.

(2) In the case of any cantonment where there is no Board the Cantonment Authority shall be a corporation sole by the name of the Cantonment Authority of the place by which the cantonment is known. The Authority shall have and hold property both moveable and immoveable and shall sue and be sued. Every cantonment shall have a Secretary who may authorise in this behalf the Secretary but shall not be a member thereof.

Provided that in the case of any cantonment where there is a Board the Governor may direct that the Executive Officer may be appointed by the Board subject to such conditions as the Governor may impose.

14 Constitution of Cantonment Board—(1) Every Board shall consist of the following members namely—

- (a) the Officer Commanding the station
- (b) a Magistrate of the first class nominated by the District Magistrate,
- (c) the Health Officer
- (d) the Executive Engineer
- (e) such military officers not exceeding four in number as may be nominated by the Officer Commanding the station by order in writing.

Provided that the Officer Commanding the station may if he thinks fit, with the sanction of the Officer Commanding in Chief the Command nominate in place of any military officer whom he is empowered to nominate under this clause any person whether in the service of the Government or not, who is ordinarily resident in the cantonment or in the vicinity thereof to represent any interest or community not otherwise represented on the Board.

Definition of annual value 64 For the purposes of this Chapter, 'annual value' means—

(a) in the case of railway stations, hotels colleges schools hospitals factories and any other buildings which a [Board]† decides to assess under this clause, one-twentieth of the sum obtained by adding the estimated present cost of erecting the building to the estimated value of the land appertaining thereto, and

(b) in the case of a building or land not assessed under clause (a), the gross annual rent for which such building (exclusive of furniture or machinery therein) or such land is actually let or where the building or land is not let or in the opinion of the [Board]† is let for a sum less than its fair letting value might reasonably be expected to let from year to year

Provided that where the annual value of any building is by reason of exceptional circumstances in the opinion of the [Board]† excessive if calculated in the aforesaid manner, the [Board]† may fix the annual value at any less amount which appears to it to be just

65 (1) Save as otherwise expressly provided in the notification imposing the tax, every tax "assessed † on the annual value of buildings or lands or of both shall be leviable primarily upon the actual occupier of the property upon which the said tax is assessed, if he is the owner of the buildings or lands or holds them on a building or other lease [granted by or on behalf of the Crown or]§ from the [Board]† or on a building lease from any person

68 After the expiry of thirty days from the date of the notification and after considering all objections submitted thereto under section 62 the Governor may impose the tax either in the original form or if any such objection has been so submitted in that form or in

(2) In any other case the tax shall be primarily leviable as follows, namely —

(a) if the property is let, upon the lessor

(b) if the property is sub-let, upon the superior lessor,

(c) if the property is unlet, upon the person in whom the right to let the same vests

(3) On failure to recover any sum due on account of such tax from the person primarily liable there may be recovered from the occupier of any part of the buildings or lands in respect of which the tax is due such portion of the sum due as bears to the whole amount due to the same ratio which the rent annually payable by such occupier bears to the aggregate amount of rent so payable in respect of the whole of the said buildings or lands or to the aggregate amount of the letting value thereof, if any, stated in the authenticated assessment list.

(4) An occupier who makes any payment for which he is not primarily liable under this section shall in the absence of any contract to the contrary, be entitled to be reimbursed by the person primarily liable for the payment, and, if so entitled, may deduct the amount so paid from the amount of any rent from time to time becoming due from him to such person

Object of amendment by Act 26 of 1927 — As a matter of equity it is considered that the taxes in respect of buildings in Hill Cantonments referred to in clause (pp) of sub-section (c) of section 280 should be held to include any tax assessed on the annual value of holdings whether such a tax is a tax on property, such as house tax or a tax for services rendered such as conservancy or water tax. It is also considered that the same interpretation should be placed on the tax referred to in sections 65 66 75 76 and 77. As

"The whole question has been exhaustively considered by specially appointed committees and by other authorities, it has been discussed in every possible aspect and the bill is the out come of the and we have recognised by the regulations in force were intended for occupy houses were built in many cases by own use, but as a source of profit, holders the burden of proving it and ought not to be subjected requirements dictate in a locality which has been set apart for military purposes. The necessity for securing house accommodation for the military and civil officers of the Government is essential but we have endeavoured to safeguard the interests of the house owners, and to remove any reasons for complaint on the part of the latter—

APPROPRIATION OF HOUSES

5 Every house situate in a cantonment or part of a cantonment in respect of which a notification under sub-section (1) of section 3 is for the time being in force shall be liable to appropriation by the 'Central Government ¶ on a lease in the manner and subject to the conditions hereinafter provided

Notes—Now I desire to make it very plain at the outset that the Government of India are unable to admit that the cantonment areas can be regarded in the same light as the other parts of the country. On the contrary special and totally different from the circumstance in asserting that this fact is well known and resented of any of the permanent military stations—Proceedings of Council as regards the previous Act

4 Nothing in this Act shall affect the provisions of any written instrument executed by or on behalf of the East India Company or the Government unless the other party entitled and the Government consent in writing to be bound by the terms of this Act

* Substituted in British India by G I Order of 1937 In Burma for these words read Government

Condition on which houses may be appropriated * '6 (1) Where—

(a) a military officer who is stationed in or has been posted to the cantonment or a President of a military mess in the cantonment, applies in writing to the Officer Commanding the station stating that he is unable to secure suitable accommodation in the cantonment for himself or the mess on reasonable terms by private agreement, and that no suitable house or quarter [belonging to the Crown][†] is available for his occupation or for the occupation of the mess, and the Officer Commanding the station is satisfied on inquiry of the truth of the fact so stated, or

(b) the Officer Commanding the station is satisfied on enquiry that there is not in the cantonment a sufficient and assured supply of houses available at reasonable rates of rent by private agreement to meet the requirements of the military officers and military messes whose accommodation in the cantonment is in his opinion necessary or expedient, the Officer Commanding the station may with a view to enforcing the liability under section 5, serve a notice on the owner of any house which appears to him to be suitable for occupation by a military officer or a military mess as the case may be within the cantonment, or, if this Act is in force in part only of the cantonment, within that part, requiring the owner to permit the house to be inspected, measured and surveyed by such person and on such date, not being less than three clear days from the service of the notice and at such time between sunrise and sunset, as may be specified in the notice

(2) On the date and the time so specified the owner shall be bound to afford all reasonable facilities to the person specified in the notice for the purposes of the inspection, measurement and survey of the house and, if he refuses or neglects to do so, such person may, subject to any rules made under this Act enter on the premises and do all such things as may be reasonably necessary for the said purpose'

Notes—The amendment of sec on 6 by Act IX of 1930 is designed to afford a clearer definition of the circumstances in which the liability under section 5 may be enforced than the somewhat obscure instructions at present contained in section 8. Two main sets of

* We have somewhat extended the notice to be given under this section by expressing it to be three clear days' notice.

† It seems advisable that the power of inspection should only be exercised between sunrise and sunset.

We have supplied an obvious omission providing for application in respect of a military mess.

The other changes in this clause are simply of a drafting nature designed to make the meaning more clear.

7 (1) If, on the report of such person as aforesaid the 'Officer Commanding the station' * is satisfied that the house is suitable for occupation by a military officer or a military mess, he may,† by notice—

Procedure for taking house on lease

(a) require the owner to execute a lease of the house [to the Central Government]‡ for a specified period which shall not be less than five years,

(b) require the existing occupier, if any, to vacate the house, and

(c) require the owner to execute within such time as may be specified in the notice such repairs as may, in the opinion of the "Officer Commanding the station," * be necessary for the purpose of putting the house into a state of reasonable repair.

(2) Every notice issued under sub-section (1) shall state the amount of the annual rent proposed as reasonable for the house, calculated on the assumption that the owner will carry out the required repairs, if any. It shall also contain an estimate of the cost of such repairs.

(3) The following shall be deemed to be conditions of every lease executed under sub-section (1) namely—

(a) that the house shall on the expiration of the lease, be re-delivered to the owner in a state of reasonable repair, and

(b) that the grounds and the garden if any, appertaining to the house shall be maintained in the condition in which they are at the time at which the lease is executed.

"Provided that nothing in this sub-section shall be deemed to affect the right of the Government to avoid the lease in any such event as is specified in clause (e) of section 108 of the Transfer of Property Act, 1882."

Notes—Section 7 (3) (1) of the Act as it stands at present makes it incumbent upon the owner to execute such repairs as may be necessary for the purpose of putting the house into a state of reasonable repair, and the grounds and the garden if any, appertaining to the house shall be maintained in the condition in which they are at the time at which the lease is executed. 3 Whoever, being a male above eighteen years of age and below twenty-one, contracts a child marriage shall be punishable with fine which may extend to one thousand rupees

Notes—The object of the Bill as introduced in the Legislature was to impose restraint upon the solemnisation of child marriages, and the method adopted was, broadly speaking, that of declaring all marriages of boys and girls below a certain age to be invalid. The Bill has been circulated under the orders of Government and has elicited a strong expression of feeling that it is objectionable, both on religious and on legal grounds, to interfere with the valid marriages of children at present widely in practice.

4. Whoever, being a male above twenty-one years of age, contracts a child marriage shall be punishable with simple imprisonment which may extend to one month, or with fine which may extend to one thousand rupees, or with both.

Notes—Vide notes under section 3.

Punishment—The extent of the punishment to be awarded at simple imprisonment is a matter for the consideration of the Select Committee. A woman who marries a young boy, as cases of this sort are rare, and in most of these the woman is likely to be so young that she is entirely under the control of her parents and should not be made criminally liable. Further even in such marriages the new Act will not be inoperative, as the other contracting party will be a child, and the guardian of the child and the persons who solemnise the marriage will be punishable.

and we considered it inexpedient that these boys should be sent to jail for undertaking a course of action in which they may not have been entirely free agents. We decided therefore, that where a boy between the ages of eighteen and twenty one marries a child he shall be liable to fine, and that where a man above the age of twenty one marries a child he shall incur the full penalty prescribed for offences under the Act. We have, therefore, provided separately in clause 3 for a fine of Rs 1,000 for offenders above the age of eighteen years and under twenty one and in clause 7 we have made provision that imprisonment shall not be imposed on these offenders under any circumstances. Clause 4 relates to offenders above the age of twenty one. The next point which we decided was the extent of the punishment to be provided generally for offences under the Act and this we have fixed at simple imprisonment up to one month and fine up to one thousand rupees, or both."

Report of the Select Committee

5 Whoever performs, conducts or directs any child marriage, shall be punishable with simple imprisonment which may extend to one month, or with fine which may extend to one thousand rupees, or with both, unless he proves that he had reason to believe that the marriage was not a child marriage.

When this summary proceeding was first used is in some doubt but the opinion has been expressed that the earliest instances of its use where the contempt was an attack on a Judge not in the face of the Court was in 1720.

The fact that there was one alternative mode of bringing the offender before the Court where the misdemeanour was a contempt of Court was merely a difference of procedure. The subject matter was the same that is to say the prosecution of an offence in the Court of King's Bench.

The helplessness of the inferior Court and its subjection to the superintendence and control of the King's Bench were not the foundation of the jurisdiction but merely the occasion and the reason for its exercise.

THE INDIAN COPYRIGHT ACT, 1914

ACT NO III OF 1914.

(Received the Governor General's assent on the 24th February, 1914)

An Act to modify and add to the provisions of the Copyright Act, 1911

WHEREAS it is expedient to modify and add to the provisions of the Copyright Act, 1911, in its application to British India, It is hereby enacted as follows —

Notes —The question of the amendment of the Indian Copyright Act (XX of 1847) has been considered on several occasions since 1864 on the ground that the Act was incomplete and did not provide among other matters for the prohibition of copyright in photographs

as few restrictions as possible

'A Draft Bill was approved by the conference and eventually passed into law as the Copyright Act 1911 (1 & 2 Geo V c 460) which came into operation in the United Kingdom on the 1st July, 1912

'The important changes in the Act are —

- (i) the abolition of the formality of the registration of copyright,
- (ii) the extension of the term of copyright from 42 years to one of life and 50 years subject to certain conditions,
- (iii) the extension of the scope of copyright,
- (iv) the substitution of one Act for several on the subject of copyright,

India by proclamation in the Gazette of India on 31st October 1912, under section 37 (2) of the Act, the question of modifications or additions being postponed for subsequent consideration on receipt of the news of the Local Governments. They are in substantial agreement with those of the Government of India who propose by virtue of the powers conferred by section 27 of the Act 1911 to pass the Draft Bill which embodies the modifications in and the addition to the Act which are considered desirable together with certain formal and necessary alterations due to difference between English and Indian administration and procedure.

It will be observed that the changes proposed are as few as possible in view of the desirability of securing that uniformity throughout the Empire which was advocated by the Imperial Copyright Conference of 1910. — Statement of Objects and Reasons

Notes—Under sections 13 of the Act of 1911 the term for which copyright subsists in translations is the life of the author and a period of fifty years after his death. The special linguistic conditions of India are so numerous and differs so widely that the conditions which prevail cannot be compared with those in most European countries and vernacular translations from English and from other languages are very common but serve the useful purpose for disseminating knowledge. Courts having civil jurisdiction regarding infringement of copyright

13 Every suit or other civil proceeding regarding infringement of copyright shall be instituted and tried in the High Court or the Court of the District Judge

Notes—finality that is given to High Court—Stat changes remain

It has been pointed out that it might cause unnecessary delay. Select Committee Madras
City Civil Court has no jurisdiction to try a suit for infringement of copyright. Section 3 of the City Civil Court Act gives general jurisdiction to the City Civil Court but the Copyright Act which deals with the special subject matter of copyright clearly restricts jurisdiction to hear a suit or proceeding relating to copyright to the High Court and the District Court. in such a case there is no invasion of any right. But a copy, much less a servile copy of a work cannot be allowed. A I R 1931 Lah 77. An author or compiler is undoubtedly at liberty to draw upon a common source of information but if he saves himself the trouble and labour requisite for collecting that information by adopting another author's work with colourable variation he infringes the latter's copyright although the latter's work may be based on materials which are common property. An author of a school text book on the same subject as a previous author and for use in the same class having to express the same ideas in the best possible manner suited to his reader is entitled to use the most suitable words and expressions even though the other author may have used them before so long as he does not in fact intend his book to resemble the other author's book so long as such words or expressions are not of that other author's coinage. He is not bound to choose unhappy expressions only to avoid resemblance. In cases of this nature it is not one or two passages here and there that count it is the general impression that is left on one's mind which is to be regarded. In the same way the similarity of materials does not prove or constitute infringement because the materials unless the book is intended to contain incorrect inadequate or incomplete information must necessarily be the same. 61 C L J 573 39 C W N 945. CHAPTER 46

An Act to amend and consolidate the Law relating to Copyright

[16th December, 1911]

Be it enacted by the King's Most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons in this present Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows —

PART I

Rights

1 (1) Subject to the provisions of this Act, copyright shall subsist throughout the parts of His Majesty's dominions to which this Act extends for the term hereinafter mentioned in every original, literary, dramatic, musical and artistic work, if—

Copyright

(a) in the case of a published work, the work was first published within such parts of His Majesty's dominions as aforesaid, and

(b) in the case of an unpublished work, the author was at the date of the making of the work a British subject or resident within such parts of His Majesty's dominions as aforesaid, but in no other works, except so far as the protection conferred by this Act is extended by Orders in Council thereunder relating to self-governing dominions to which this Act does not extend and to foreign countries

(2) For the purposes of this Act, "copyright" means the sole right to produce or reproduce the work or any substantial part thereof in any material form whatsoever, to perform, or in the case of a lecture to deliver, the work or any substantial part thereof in public, if the work is unpublished, to publish the work or any substantial part thereof, and shall include the sole right—

(a) to produce reproduce, perform or publish any translation of the work,

(b) in the case of a dramatic work, to convert it into a novel or other non-dramatic work,

(c) in the case of a novel or other non dramatic work, or of an artistic work, to convert it into a dramatic work, by way of performance in public or otherwise,

(d) in the case of a literary, dramatic or musical work, to make any record, perforated roll, cinematograph film or other contrivance by means of which the work may be mechanically performed or delivered, and to authorise any such acts as aforesaid

(3) For the purposes of this Act, publication in relation to any work, means the issue of copies of the work to the public and does not include the performance in public of a dramatic or musical work the delivery in public of a lecture, the exhibition in public of an artistic work, or the construction of an architectural work of art, but for the purposes of this provision, the issue of photographs and engravings of works of sculpture and architectural works of art shall not be deemed to be publication of such works

In Fredrick Emerson v Clas Davies 3 Story U S Rep 768 the plaintiff had compiled and published a book entitled 'The North American Arithmetic' described as those words are to be understood in cases of copyright The question is not whether the materials which are used are entirely new and have never been used before or even that they have never been used before for the same purpose The true question is whether the same plan arrangement and combination of materials have been used before for the same purpose or for any other purpose If they have not then the plaintiff is entitled to a copyright although he may have gathered hints for his plan and arrangement or parts of his plan and arrangement from existing and known sources He may have borrowed much of his materials from others but if they are combined in a different manner from what was in use before he is entitled to a copyright. It is true that he does not thereby acquire the right to appropriate to himself the materials which were common to all persons before so as to exclude those persons from a future use of such materials but then they have no right to use such materials with its improvements superadded whether they consist in plan arrangement or illustrations or combinations for these are strictly his own. In truth in literature in science and in art there are and can be few, if any things which in an abstract sense are strictly new and original throughout.

In the case of Macmillan v Suresh Chandra Deb 17 Cal 951 the question was of the selection already made by another. This passage was approved of by Lord Hatherly in Spry v Brown 6 W R (Eng) 852 see also Moffat and Paine v Gill, 130 N S 7 188.

3 The term for which copyright shall subsist shall, except as otherwise expressly provided by this Act, be the life of the author and a period of fifty years after his death

Term of copyright

Provided that at any time after the expiration of twenty-five years, or in the case of a work in which copyright subsists at the passing of this Act, thirty years from the death of the author of a published work, copyright in the work shall not be deemed to be infringed by the reproduction of the work for sale if the person reproducing the work proves that he has given the prescribed notice in writing of his intention to reproduce the work, and that he has paid in the prescribed manner to, or for the benefit of, the owner of the copyright royalties in respect of all copies of the work sold by him calculated at the rate of ten per cent on the price at which he publishes the work, and, for the purposes of this proviso, the Board of Trade may make regulations prescribing the mode in which notices are to be given, and the particulars to be given in such notices and the mode, time, and frequency of the payment of royalties, including (if they think fit) regulations requiring payment in advance or otherwise securing the payment of royalties

Under the law which gives an alternative period of copyright for literary works either for the life of the author and seven years after his death or a gross period of forty-two years which should be the longer the works of the author were liable to fall into the public domain at different times but under the new Act all the works of the same author will—save in the excepted cases—fall into the public domain at one and the same time namely fifty years after his death”—Copinger p 85

The above proviso is to apply to photographic works as if the author died at the date when his work was first published, performed or delivered to the public. There is no similar provision expressly extending the proviso to photographic and mechanical contrivances and it is submitted that these cannot be compulsorily reproduced upon a royalty basis—Copinger p 88

Compulsory licences

Notes—"There must be a refusal to republish or allow republication or performance in public and it must be shown that by reason of such refusal, the work is withheld from the public—it must also be after the death of the author"—Oldfield's Law of Copyright, p 67.

Ownership of copyright, etc 5 (1) Subject to the provisions of this Act, the author of a work shall be the first owner of the copyright therein

Provided that—

(a) where, in the case of an engraving, photograph, or portrait, the plate or other original was ordered by some other person and was made for valuable consideration in pursuance of that order, then, in the absence of any agreement to the contrary, the person by whom such plate or other original was ordered shall be the first owner of the copyright,

(b) where the author was in the employment of some other person under whom the work was made in the case of a person by whom the author was employed by agreement to the contrary, be the first owner of the copyright, but where the work is an article or other contribution to a newspaper, magazine, or similar periodical, there shall, in the absence of any agreement to the contrary, be deemed to be reserved to the author a right to restrain the publication of the work, otherwise than as part of a newspaper, magazine, or similar periodical

(2) The owner of the copyright in any work may assign the right, either wholly or partially, and either generally or subject to limitations

tions to the United Kingdom or any self-governing dominion or other part of His Majesty's dominions to which this Act extends and either for the whole term of the copyright or for any part thereof, and may grant any interest in the right by licence, but no such assignment or grant shall be valid unless it is in writing signed by the owner of the right in respect of which the assignment or grant is made, or by his duly authorised agent

Provided that, where the author of a work is the first owner of the copyright therein, no assignment of the copyright, and no grant of any interest therein, made by him (otherwise than by will) after the passing of this Act, shall be operative to vest in the assignee or grantee any rights with respect to the copyright in the work beyond the expiration of twenty-five years from the death of the author, and the reversionary interest in the copyright expectant on the termination of that period shall, on the death of the author, notwithstanding any agreement to the contrary devolve on his legal personal representatives as part of his estate, and any agreement entered into by him as to the disposition of such reversionary interest shall be null and void, but nothing in this proviso shall be construed as applying to the assignment of the copyright in a collective work or a licence to publish a work or part of a work as part of a collective work

(3) Where under any partial assignment of copyright, the assignee becomes entitled to any right comprised in copyright, the assignee as respects the rights so assigned and the assignor, as respects the rights not assigned shall be treated for the purposes of this Act as the owner of the copyright, and the provisions of this Act shall have effect accordingly

(2) The costs of all parties in any proceedings in respect of the infringement of copyright shall be in the absolute discretion of the Court

(3) In any action for infringement of copyright in any work, the work shall be presumed to be a work in which copyright subsists and the plaintiff shall be presumed to be the owner of the copyright, unless the defendant puts in issue the existence of the copyright, or as the case may be, the title of the plaintiff, and where any such question is in issue, then—

(a) if a name purporting to be that of the author of the work is printed or otherwise indicated thereon in the usual manner the person whose name is so printed or indicated shall, unless the contrary is proved, be presumed to be the author of the work,

(b) if no name is so printed or indicated, or if the name so printed or indicated is not the author's true name or the name by which he is commonly known, and a name purporting to be that of the publisher or proprietor of the work is printed or otherwise indicated thereon in the usual manner, the person whose name is so printed or indicated shall, unless the contrary is proved, be presumed to be the owner of the copyright in the work for the purposes of proceedings in respect of the infringement of copyright therein

Special Provisions as to certain Works

16 (1) In the case of a work of joint authorship, copyright shall subsist during the life of the author who first dies and for a term of fifty years after his death, or during the life of the author who dies last whichever period is the longer, and references in this Act to the period after the expiration of any specified number of years from the death of the author shall be construed as references to the period after the expiration of the like number of years from the death of the author who dies first or after the death of the author who dies last, whichever period may be the shorter and in the provisions of this Act with respect to the grant of compulsory licences a reference to the date of the death of the author who dies last shall be substituted for the reference to the date of the death of the author

(2) Where in the case of a work of joint authorship, some one or more of the joint authors do not satisfy the conditions conferring copyright laid down by this Act the work shall be treated for the purposes of this Act as if the other author or authors had been the sole author or authors thereof

Provided that the term of the copyright shall be the same as it would have been if all the authors had satisfied such conditions as aforesaid

(3) For the purposes of this Act "a work of joint authorship means a work produced by the collaboration of two or more authors in which the contribution of one author is not distinct from the contribution of the other author or authors

18 Without prejudice to any rights or privileges of the Crown where any work has, whether before or after the commencement of this Act, been prepared or published by or under the direction or control of His Majesty or any Government department, the copyright in the work shall, subject to any agreement with the author, belong to His Majesty, and in such case shall continue for a period of fifty years from the date of the first publication of the work

Notes—Originally the copyright of all the publications belonged to the Crown. Gradually this right is partially lost by the Crown. Now the Crown has copyright in the authorised version of the Bible [University of Oxford and Cambridge v Richardson (1802) 6 Ves 689; Manners v Blair 3 Bl (N S) 391; Red Letter Testament In re (1900) 17 T L R 1] and Prayer Books. Before this Act Government had copyright unpublished work of the Crown. This section has no application so far as a work published with licence of the Crown is concerned. (1926) 1 Ch 483

19 (1) Copyright shall subsist in records, perforated rolls, and other contrivances by means of which sounds may be mechanically reproduced, in like manner as if such contrivances were musical works, but the term of copyright shall be fifty years from the making of the original plate from which the contrivance was directly or indirectly derived, and the person who was the owner of such original plate at the time when such plate was made shall be deemed to be the author of the work, and, where such owner is a body corporate, the body corporate shall be deemed for the purposes of this Act to reside within the parts of His Majesty's dominions to which this Act extends if it has established a place of business within such parts

(2) It shall not be deemed to be an infringement of copyright in any musical work for any person to make, within the parts of His Majesty's dominions to which this Act extends, records perforated rolls or other contrivances by means of which the work may be mechanically performed, if such person proves—

(a) that such contrivances have previously been made by, or with the consent or acquiescence of, the owner of the copyright in the work, and

(b) that he has given the prescribed notice of his intention to make the contrivances, and has paid in the prescribed manner to, or for the benefit of, the owner of the copyright in the work royalties in respect of all such contrivances sold by him, calculated at the rate hereinafter mentioned

Provided that—

(i) nothing in this provision shall authorize any alterations in, or omissions from, the work reproduced, unless contrivances reproducing the work subject to similar alterations and omissions have been previously made by, or with the consent or acquiescence of, the owner of the copyright, or unless such alterations or omissions are reasonably necessary for the adaptation of the work to the contrivances in question, and

(11) for the purposes of this provision, a musical work shall be deemed to include any words so closely associated therewith as to form part of the same work but shall not be deemed to include a contrivance by means of which sounds may be mechanically reproduced

(3) The rate at which such royalties as aforesaid are to be calculated shall—

(a) in the case of contrivances sold within two years after the commencement of this Act by the person making the same, be two and one-half per cent, and

(b) in the case of contrivances sold as aforesaid after the expiration of that period be five per cent

on the ordinary retail selling price of the contrivance calculated in the prescribed manner, so however that the royalty payable in respect of a contrivance shall, in no case, be less than a half-penny for each separate musical work in which copyright subsists, reproduced thereon, and, where the royalty calculated as aforesaid includes a fraction of a farthing, such fraction shall be reckoned as a farthing

Provided that, if, at any time after the expiration of seven years from the commencement of this Act, it appears to the Board of Trade that such rate as aforesaid is no longer equitable, the Board of Trade may after holding a public inquiry, make an order either decreasing or increasing that rate to such extent as under the circumstances may seem just, but any order so made shall be provisional only and shall not have any effect unless and until confirmed by Parliament, but where an order revising the rate has been so made and confirmed, no further revision shall be made before the expiration of fourteen years from the date of the last revision

(4) If any such contrivance is made reproducing two or more different works in which copyright subsists and the owners of the copyright therein are different persons the sums payable by way of royalties under this section shall be apportioned amongst the several owners of the copyright in such proportions as, failing agreement, may be determined by arbitration

(5) When any such contrivances by means of which a musical work may be mechanically performed have been made, then, for the purposes of this section, the owner of the copyright in the work shall, in relation to any person who makes the prescribed inquiries, be deemed to have given his consent to the making of such contrivances if he fails to reply to such inquiries within the prescribed time

(6) For the purposes of this section, the Board of Trade may make regulations prescribing anything which under this section is to be prescribed, and prescribing the mode in which notices are to be given and the particulars to be given in such notices, and the mode, time, and frequency of the payment of royalties, and any such regulations may, if the Board think fit, include regulations requiring payment in advance or otherwise securing the payment of royalties

(7) In the case of musical works published before the commencement of this Act, the foregoing provisions shall have effect, subject to the following modifications and additions —

(a) The conditions as to the previous making by, or with the consent or acquiescence of the owner of the copyright in the work, and the restrictions as to alterations in or omissions from the work shall not apply

(b) The rate of two and one half per cent shall be substituted for the rate of five per cent as the rate at which royalties are to be calculated but no royalties shall be payable in respect of contrivances sold before the first day of July, 1913 if contrivances reproducing the same work had been lawfully made, or placed on sale, within the parts of His Majesty's dominions to which this Act extends before the first day of July, 1910

(c) Notwithstanding any assignment made before the passing of this Act of the copyright in a musical work, any rights conferred by this Act in respect of the making, or authorising the making of contrivances by means of which the work may be mechanically performed shall belong to the author or his legal personal representatives and not to the assignees, and the royalties aforesaid shall be payable to, and for the benefit of, the author of the work or his legal personal representatives

(d) The saving contained in this Act of the rights and interests arising from or in connexion with action taken before the commencement of this Act shall not be construed as authorising any person who has made contrivances by means of which the work may be mechanically performed to sell any such contrivances, whether made before or after the passing of this Act, except on the terms and subject to the conditions laid down in this section

(e) Where the work is a work on which copyright is conferred by an Order in Council relating to a foreign country, the copyright so conferred shall not, except to such extent as may be provided by the Order, include any rights with respect to the making of records, perforated rolls or other contrivances by means of which the work may be mechanically performed

(8) Notwithstanding anything in this Act where a record, perforated roll, or other contrivance by means of which sounds may be mechanically reproduced has been made before the commencement of this Act, copyright shall as from the commencement of this Act, subsist therein in like manner and for the like term as if this Act had been in force at the date of the making of the original plate from which the contrivance was directly or indirectly derived

(i) the person who at the commencement of this Act, is the owner of such original plate shall be the first owner of such copyright, and

(ii) nothing in this provision shall be construed as conferring copyright in any such contrivance if the making thereof would have infringed copyright in some other such contrivance if this provision had been in force at the time of the making of the first-mentioned contrivance

the notice above referred to must be given not more than one year nor less than six months before the date at which the right would have so expired and must be sent by registered post to the author, or, if he cannot with reasonable diligence be found, advertised in the London Gazette and in two London newspapers,

(b) where any person has before the 26th day of July, 1910, taken any action whereby he has incurred any expenditure or liability in connexion with the reproduction or performance of any work in a manner which at the time was lawful or for the purpose of or with a view to the reproduction or performance of a work at a time when such reproduction or performance would, but for the passing of this Act, have been lawful, nothing in this section shall diminish or prejudice any rights or interest arising from or in connexion with such action which are subsisting and valuable at the said date, unless the person who by virtue of this section becomes entitled to restrain such reproduction or performance agrees to pay such compensation as, failing agreement, may be determined by arbitration

(2) For the purposes of this section, the expression "author" includes the legal personal representatives of a deceased author

Application to British Possessions

25 (1) This Act, except such of the provisions thereof as are expressly restricted to the United Kingdom, shall extend throughout His Majesty's dominions Provided that it shall not extend to a self-governing dominion, unless declared by the Legislature of that dominion to be in force therein either without any modifications or additions, or with such modifications and additions relating exclusively to procedure and remedies, or necessary to adapt this Act to the circumstances of the dominion, as may be enacted by such Legislature

(2) If the Secretary of State certifies by notice published in the London Gazette that any self-governing dominion has passed legislation under which works, the authors whereof were at the date of the making of the works British subjects resident elsewhere than in the dominion or (not being British subjects) were resident in the parts of His Majesty's dominions to which this Act extends, enjoy within the dominion rights substantially identical with those conferred by this Act, then whilst such legislation continues in force, the dominion shall, for the purposes of the rights conferred by this Act, be treated as if it were a dominion to which this Act extends, and it shall be lawful for the Secretary of State to give such a certificate as aforesaid, notwithstanding that the remedies for enforcing the rights, or the restrictions on the importation of copies of works, manufactured in a foreign country, under the law of the dominion, differ from those under this Act which the Act extended But the certificate does not and cannot extend the (English) Act to the dominion, if it is not in force there 171 Ind Cas 406=A I R 1937 P C 376 (P C)

26 (1) The Legislature of any self-governing dominion may, at any time, repeal all or any of the enactments relating to copyright passed by Parliament (including this Act) so far as they are operative within that dominion Provided that no such repeal shall prejudicially affect any legal rights existing at the time of the repeal, and that, on this Act or any part thereof being so repealed by the Legislature of a self-governing dominion that dominion shall cease to be a dominion to which this Act extends

(2) In any self-governing dominion to which this Act does not extend, the enactments repealed by this Act shall, so far as they are operative in that dominion, continue in force until repealed by the Legislature of that dominion

(3) Where His Majesty in Council is satisfied that the law of a self-governing dominion to which this Act does not extend provides adequate protection within the dominion for the works (whether published or unpublished) of authors who at the time of the making of the work were British subjects resident elsewhere than in that dominion, His Majesty in Council may, for the purpose of giving reciprocal protection, direct that this Act, except such parts (if any) thereof as may be specified in the Order, and subject to any conditions contained therein, shall, within the parts of His Majesty's dominions to which this Act extends, apply to works the authors whereof were, at the time of the making of the work, resident within the first mentioned dominion, and to works first published in that dominion, but save as provided by such an Order, works the authors whereof were resident in a dominion to which this Act does not extend shall not, whether they are British subjects or not, be entitled to any protection under this Act except such protection as is by this Act conferred on works first published within the parts of His Majesty's dominions to which this Act extends

Provided that no such Order shall confer any rights within a self-governing dominion, but the Governor in Council of any self-governing dominion to which this Act extends may, by Order, confer within that dominion the like rights as His Majesty in Council is, under the foregoing provisions of this sub-section, authorised to confer within other parts of His Majesty's dominions

For the purposes of this sub-section, the expression "a dominion to which this Act extends" includes a dominion which is for the purposes of this Act to be treated as if it were a dominion to which this Act extends

Notes—It is to be noted that sub section (1) gives the Legislature of any self governing dominion power to repeal any enactment relating to copyright including the Act of 1911 all the dominions have now repealed the legislation prior to the Act of 1911 which applied to them—I ide Copinger p 301

27 The Legislature of any British possession to which this Act extends may modify or add to any of the provisions of this Act in its application to the possession, but except so far as such modifications and additions relate to procedure and remedies, they shall apply only to works the authors whereof were, at the time of the making of the work, resident in the possession, and to works first published in the possession

Power of Legislatures of British possessions to pass supplemental legislation

Notes—This section was adopted by the Conference 1910 unless adopted by within the possession

28 His Majesty may, by Order in Council, extend this Act to any territories under his protection and Application to protectorates to Cyprus, and on the making of any such Order, this Act shall, subject to the provisions of the Order, have effect as if the territories to which it applies or Cyprus were part of His Majesty's dominions to which this Act extends

Notes —The administration of Cyprus is entrusted to England under a treaty of June 4 1878

(vi) in applying the provisions of this Act as to existing works, the Order in Council may make such modifications as appear necessary,

We have added a proviso which will empower by night under circumstances where there is reason to believe that delay will result in the escape of the offenders or the removal of illicit drugs We have added a new sub-clause to ensure that these powers shall be properly exercised — Statement of Objects and Reasons

(c) vexatiously and unnecessarily detains, searches or arrests any person, shall be punished with fine which may extend to five hundred rupees

Notes—"The amendment in this clause follows from the amendment in sub clause (c) of clause 23.—Statement of Objects and Reasons

30. The [Provincial Government]* may invest any officer of the Excise Department or any class of such officers, with the powers of an officer in charge of a police station for the investigation of offences under this Act

Power to invest Excise officers with powers of an officer in charge of a police station

Notes—"We have inserted a new clause 30 among the clauses."

Reasons

* In British India the words "Provincial Government" have been substituted by G. I. Order of 1937. In Burma for these words read the word "Governor", (vide G. I. Order of 1937)

31 No Magistrate shall try an offence under this Act unless he is [a Presidency Magistrate or]* a Magistrate of the first class, or a Magistrate of the second class specially empowered by the [appropriate Government]† in this behalf

[In this section "the appropriate Government" means as respects any contravention of any rules which under this Act fall to be made by the Provincial Government, that Government, and in other cases the Central Government]‡

Notes — We have re drafted this clause so as to give jurisdiction to second class Magistrate specially empowered and have thus brought it into line with the provisions of the Opium Act 1878 — Statement of Objects and Reasons

32. In trials under this Act it may be presumed, unless and until the contrary is proved, that the accused has committed an offence under Chapter III in respect of—

Presumption from possession of illicit articles

(a) any dangerous drug ,

(b) any poppy or coca plant growing on any land which he has cultivated

(c) any apparatus specially designed or any group of utensils specially adapted for the manufacture of any dangerous drug , or

(d) any materials which have undergone any process towards the manufacture of a dangerous drug, or any residue left of the materials from which a dangerous drug has been manufactured, for the possession of which he fails to account satisfactorily

Notes — We have made a restricting amendment in sub clause (b) , as it seems too wide — Statement of Objects and Reasons

33 (1) Whenever any offence has been committed which is punishable under Chapter III, the dangerous drug materials, apparatus and utensils in respect of which or by means of which such offence has been committed, shall be liable to confiscation

Liability of illicit articles to confiscation

(2) Any dangerous drug lawfully imported, transported, manufactured, possessed, or sold along with, or in addition to, any dangerous drug which is liable to confiscation under sub-section (1), and the receptacles, packages and coverings in which any dangerous drug, materials, apparatus or utensils liable to confiscation under sub-section (1) is found and the other contents, if any, of such receptacles or packages and the animals, vehicles, vessels and other conveyances used in carrying the same, shall likewise be liable to confiscation

Provided that no animal, vehicle, vessel or other conveyance shall be liable to confiscation unless it is proved that the owner thereof knew that the offence was being, or was to be or was likely to be, committed

* In Burma omit the words within brackets — Vide G. B. Order of 1937

† The words within brackets have been substituted in British India by G. I. Order of 1937 In Burma for these words read the word "Governor" , (vide G. B. Order of 1937)

‡ In British India the words within brackets have been inserted by G. I. Order of 1937 In Burma these words have been omitted — Vide G. B. Order of 1937,

34 (1) In the trial of offences under this Act whether the accused is convicted or acquitted, the Court shall decide whether any article seized under this Chapter is liable to confiscation under section 33 and, if it decides that the article is so liable, it may order confiscation accordingly

(2) Where any article seized under this Chapter appears to be liable to confiscation under section 33, but the person who committed the offence in connection therewith is not known or cannot be found, the Collector or other officer authorised by the [Provincial Government]* in this behalf, may inquire into and decide such liability, and may order confiscation accordingly

Provided that no order of confiscation of an article shall be made until the expiry of one month from the date of seizure, or without hearing any person who may claim any right thereto and the evidence, if any, which he produces in respect of his claim

Provided further that if any such article, other than a dangerous drug is liable to speedy and natural decay or if the Collector or other officer is of opinion that its sale would be for the benefit of its owner, he may at any time direct it to be sold and the provisions of this sub-section shall as nearly as may be practicable, apply to the net proceeds of the sale

(3) Any person not convicted who claims any right to property which has been confiscated under this section may appeal to the Court of Session against the order of confiscation

Notes — Under this clause as it stood persons who were not convicted had no right of appeal against an order confiscating their property. We have added a sub clause giving them this right — State of Objects and Reasons

35 [In connection with offences against rules which under this Act fall to be made by the Provincial Government, the Provincial Government, and in connection with other offences the Central Government]† may make rules to regulate—

(a) the disposal of all articles confiscated under this Act, and
(b) the rewards to be paid to officers, informers and other persons out of the proceeds of fines and confiscations under this Act

Notes — In sub clause (b) we have made a small amendment in order to secure that Government may give rewards out of fines and confiscations to persons who are neither officers nor informers, such as private persons who take an active part in an important capture — State of Objects and Reasons

ACT NO. VII OF 1922.

(Received the assent of the Governor General on the 5th March, 1922)

An Act to amend the law relating to emigration

WHEREAS it is expedient to amend the law relating to emigration, It is hereby enacted as follows —

PRELIMINARY

Short title and extent

- [1 (1) This Act may be called the Indian Emigration Act, 1922
 (2) It extends to the whole of British India]*

Definitions

2 (1) In this Act, unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context,—

(a) "dependant" means any woman or child who is related to an emigrant and any aged or incapacitated relative of an emigrant,

(b) "emigrant" means any person who emigrates or has emigrated or who has been registered as an emigrant under this Act and includes any dependant of an emigrant, but does not include—

(i) any person emigrating to a country in which he has resided for not less than five years or the wife or child of such person, or

(ii) the wife or child of any person who has lawfully emigrated when such wife or child departs for the purpose of joining such person,

(c) "emigrate" and "emigration" mean the departure by sea out of [British India]† of—

(i) any person who departs under an agreement to work for hire in any country beyond the limits of [India],† and

(ii) any person who is assisted to depart, otherwise than by a relative, if he departs, for the purpose or with the intention of working for hire or engaging in agriculture in any country beyond the limits of [India]†.

* In Burma for section 1 substitute the following section 1 This Act may be called the Emigration Act (Vide G I Order of 1937)

† In British Burma for the words "British India" read the words "British Burma", and for the word "India" read the word "Burma" (Vide G B Order of 1937)

*[(cc) "emigrant ship" means any ship specially chartered for the conveyance of emigrants, or conveying emigrants exceeding a number to be prescribed]

Provided that the [Central Government]† may, by notification in the [official Gazette],‡ declare that ships conveying emigrants to any specified port shall not be deemed to be emigrant ships]

(d) "prescribe" means to prescribe by rules made under this Act,

(e) "work", with its grammatical variations, means skilled or unskilled work,

(f) "skilled work" means—

(i) working as an artisan ; or

(ii) working as a clerk or shop assistant , or

(iii) working for the purpose of any exhibition or entertainment , or

(iv) service in any restaurant, tea house, or other place of public resort , or

(v) domestic service , or

(vi) any other occupation which the [Central Government]† may, by notification in the [official Gazette] ‡ declare to be skilled work ,

(g) "unskilled work" includes engaging in agriculture.

(2) In case of any doubt or dispute arising otherwise than in the course of any legal proceedings, as to whether—

(a) any person is an emigrant, or

(b) any work is skilled or unskilled, or

(c) any person has been assisted otherwise than by a relative, within the meaning of this Act, the question shall be determined by such person and in such manner as the [Central Government]† may prescribe, and such determination shall be final

Clause (a) — We have revised the definition of dependant with the object for restricting an emigrant's dependants to his relatives. It is possible that in certain cases the dependant of an emigrant may not travel by the same ship as the emigrant and we have therefore omitted the words accompanying an emigrant. —Report of the Select Committee.

Clause (b) — In the definition of emigrant we have inserted the words and includes any dependant of emigrant which are in the Act of 1908. We have also excluded from the definition of emigrant two classes of persons to whom we consider that the Act should not apply. The first class consists of persons who have lived abroad as emigrants for five years and their families and the second class consists of the families of persons who have lawfully emigrated. —Report of the Select Committee.

THE EXTRADITION ACT, 1870

(33 & 34 Vict., C 52)

[9th August 1870]

An act for amending the Law relating to the extradition of Criminals

[Preamble and enacting words, Rep (U K) 50 & 57 Vict., c 52 (S L R)]

Preliminary

Short title

1 This Act may be called as "The Extradition Act, 1870"

2 Where an arrangement has been made with any foreign state with respect to the surrender to such state of any fugitive criminals, Her Majesty may, by order in Council, direct that this Act shall apply in the case of such foreign state

Where arrangement for surrender of criminals made, Order in Council to apply Act

Her Majesty may, by the same or any subsequent order, limit the operation of the order and restrict the same to fugitive criminals who are in or suspected of being in the part of Her Majesty's dominions specified in the order, and render the operation thereof subject to such conditions, exceptions and qualifications as may be expedient

Every such order shall recite or embody the terms of the arrangement, and shall not remain in force for any longer period than the arrangement

Every such order shall be laid before both Houses of Parliament within six weeks after it is made, or, if Parliament be not then sitting within six weeks after the then next meeting of Parliament, and shall also be published in the London Gazette

Restrictions on surrender of criminals

3 The following restriction shall be observed with respect to the surrender of fugitive criminals —

(1) A fugitive criminal shall not be surrendered if the offence in respect of which his surrender is demanded is one of a political character or if he proves to the satisfaction of the Police Magistrate or the Court before whom he is brought on habeas corpus or to the Secretary of State, that the requisition for his surrender has in fact been made with a view to try or punish him for an offence of a political character

(2) A fugitive criminal shall not be surrendered to a foreign state unless provision is made by the law of that state or by arrangement, that the fugitive criminal shall not, until he has been restored or had an opportunity of returning to Her Majesty's dominions, be detained or tried in that foreign state for any offence committed prior to his surrender other than the extradition crime proved by the facts on which the surrender is grounded

(3) A fugitive criminal who has been accused of some offence within English jurisdiction not being the offence for which his surrender is asked, or is undergoing sentence under any conviction in the United Kingdom shall not be surrendered until after he has been discharged, whether by acquittal or on expiration of his sentence or otherwise

(4) A fugitive criminal shall not be surrendered until the expiration of fifteen days from the date of his being committed to prison to await his surrender

Provisions of arrangement for surrender

4 An order in Council for applying this Act in the case of any foreign state shall not be made unless the arrangement—

(1) provides for the determination of it by either party to it after the expiration of a notice not exceeding one year, and

(2) is in conformity with the provisions of this Act, and in particular with the restrictions on the surrender of fugitive criminals contained in this Act

5 When an order applying this Act in the case of any foreign state has been published in the London Gazette, this Act, after the date specified in the order, or if no date is specified after the date of the publication, shall so long as the order remains in force, but subject to the limitations, restrictions, conditions, exceptions and qualifications, if any, contained in the order, apply in the case of such foreign state

An order in Council shall be conclusive evidence that the arrangement therein referred to complies with the requisitions of this Act and that this Act applies in the case of the foreign state mentioned in the order, and the validity of such order shall not be questioned in any legal proceedings whatever

6 Where this Act applies in the case of any foreign state every fugitive criminal of that state who is in or suspected of being in any part of Her Majesty's dominions, or that part which is specified in the order applying this Act, (as the case may be), shall be liable to be apprehended and surrendered in manner provided by this Act, whether the crime in respect of which the surrender is sought was committed before or after the date of the order, and whether there is or is not any concurrent jurisdiction in any Court of Her Majesty's dominions over that crime

7 A requisition for the surrender of a fugitive criminal of any foreign state, who is in or suspected of being in the United Kingdom, shall be made to the Secretary of State by some person recognised by the Secretary of State as a diplomatic representative of that foreign state. A Secretary of State may, by order, under his hand and seal signify to a Police Magistrate that such requisition has been made, and require him to issue the warrant for the apprehension of the fugitive criminal

If the Secretary of State is of opinion that the offence is one of a political character, he may, if he think fit, refuse to send any such order, and may also at any time order a fugitive criminal accused or convicted of such offence to be discharged from custody

8 A warrant for the apprehension of a fugitive criminal, whether accused or convicted of crime who is in or suspected of being in the United Kingdom, may be issued—

(1) by a Police Magistrate on the receipt of the said order of the Secretary of State and on such evidence as would in his opinion justify the issue of the warrant of the crime had been committed or

peace in any part complaint and such opinion of the warrant if the crime

had been committed or the criminal convicted in that part of the United Kingdom in which he exercises jurisdiction

Any person issuing a warrant under this section without an order from a Secretary of State, shall forthwith send a report of the fact of such issue together with the evidence and information or complaint, or certified copies thereof, to a Secretary of State, who may if he think fit, order the warrant to be cancelled, and the person who have been apprehended on the warrant to be discharged

A fugitive criminal when apprehended on a warrant issued without the order of a Secretary of State shall be brought before some person having power to issue a warrant under this section, who shall by warrant order him to be brought and the prisoner shall accordingly be brought, before a Police Magistrate

A fugitive criminal apprehended on a warrant issued without the order of a Secretary of State shall be discharged by the Police

trate, unless the Police Magistrate, within such reasonable time as with reference to the circumstances of the case he may fix receives from a Secretary of State an order signifying that a requisition has been made for the surrender of such criminal

9 When a fugitive criminal is brought before the Police Magistrate, the Police Magistrate shall hear the case in the same manner and have the same jurisdiction and powers, as near as may be, as if the prisoner were brought before him charged with an indictable offence committed in England

The Police Magistrate shall receive any evidence which may be tendered to show that the crime of which the prisoner is accused or alleged to have been convicted is an offence of a political character or is not an extradition crime

10 In the case of a fugitive criminal accused of an extradition crime, if the foreign warrant authorizing the arrest of such criminal is duly authenticated, and such evidence is produced as (subject to the provisions of this Act) would, according to the law of England, justify the committal for trial of the prisoner if the crime of which he is accused had been committed in England the Police Magistrate shall commit him to prison, but otherwise shall order him to be discharged

In the case of a fugitive criminal alleged to have been convicted of an extradition crime if such evidence is produced as (subject to the provisions of this Act) would, according to the law of England, prove that the prisoner was convicted of such crime, the Police Magistrate shall commit him to prison, but otherwise shall order him to be discharged

If he commits such criminal to prison he shall commit him to the Middlesex House of Detention or to some other prison in Middlesex there to await the warrant of a Secretary of State for his surrender and shall forthwith send to a Secretary of State a certificate of the committal, and such report upon the case as he may think fit

11 If the Police Magistrate commits a fugitive criminal to prison, he shall inform such criminal that he will not be surrendered until after the expiration of fifteen days and that he has a right to apply for a writ of habeas corpus

Upon the expiration of the said fifteen days, or, if a writ of habeas corpus is issued, after the decision of the Court upon the return to the writ as the case may be or after such further period as may be allowed in either case by a Secretary of State, it shall be lawful for a Secretary of State, by warrant under his hand and seal to order the fugitive criminal if not delivered on the decision of the Court, to be surrendered to such person as may in his opinion be duly authorized to receive the fugitive criminal by the foreign state from which the requisition for the surrender proceeded, and such fugitive criminal shall be surrendered accordingly

tody, and convey within the jurisdiction of such foreign state the criminal mentioned in the warrant and if the criminal escapes out of any custody to which he may be delivered on or in pursuance of such warrant it shall be lawful to retake him in the same manner as any person accused of any crime against the laws of that part of Her Majesty's dominions to which he escapes may be retaken upon an escape

12 If the fugitive criminal who has been committed to prison is not surrendered and conveyed out of the United Kingdom within two months after the decision of the Court upon the return to the writ, it shall be lawful for any Judge of one of Her Majesty's Superior Courts at Westminster, upon application made to him by or on behalf of the criminal and upon proof that reasonable notice of the intention to make such application has been given to a Secretary of State, to order the criminal to be discharged out of custody unless sufficient cause is shown to the contrary

13 The warrant of the Police Magistrate issued in pursuance of this Act may be executed in any part of the United Kingdom in the same manner as if the same had been originally issued or subsequently indorsed by a justice of the peace having jurisdiction in the place where the same is executed

14 Depositions or statements on oath taken in a foreign state and copies of such original depositions or statements and foreign certificates of or judicial documents stating the fact of conviction may if duly authenticated, be received in evidence in proceedings under this Act

15 Foreign warrants and depositions or statements on oath, and copies thereof, and certificates of or judicial documents stating the fact of a conviction, shall be deemed duly authenticated for the purposes of this Act if authenticated in manner provided for the time being by law or authenticated as follows —

(1) If the warrant purports to be signed by a Judge, Magistrate, or officer of the foreign state where the same was issued

(2) If the depositions or statements or the copies thereof purport to be certified under the hand of a Judge, Magistrate, or officer of the foreign state where the same were taken to be the original depositions or statements or to be true copies thereof, as the case may require and

(3) If the certificates of or judicial documents stating the fact of conviction purports to be certified by a Judge, Magistrate, or officer of the foreign state where the conviction took place, and if in every case the warrants, depositions, statements, copies certificates, and the judicial documents (as the case may be) are authenticated by the oath of some witness or by being sealed with the official seal of the minister of justice or some other minister of state A 1 all Courts of justice, justices, and magistrates shall take judicial

trate, unless the Police Magistrate, within such reasonable time as, with reference to the circumstances of the case he may fix receives from a Secretary of State an order signifying that a requisition has been made for the surrender of such criminal

The Police Magistrate shall receive any evidence which may be tendered to show that the crime of which the prisoner is accused or alleged to have been convicted is an offence of a political character or is not an extradition crime

10 In the case of a fugitive criminal accused of an extradition crime, if the foreign warrant authorizing the arrest of such criminal is duly authenticated, and such evidence is produced as (subject to the provisions of this Act) would, according to the law of England, justify the committal for trial of the prisoner if the crime of which he is accused had been committed in England, the Police Magistrate shall commit him to prison, but otherwise shall order him to be discharged

In the case of a fugitive criminal alleged to have been convicted of an extradition crime if such evidence is produced as (subject to the provisions of this Act) would, according to the law of England, prove that the prisoner was convicted of such crime, the Police Magistrate shall commit him to prison, but otherwise shall order him to be discharged

If he commits such criminal to prison he shall commit him to the Middlesex House of Detention or to some other prison in Middlesex there to await the warrant of a Secretary of State for his surrender, and shall forthwith send to a Secretary of State a certificate of the committal, and such report upon the case as he may think fit

11 If the Police Magistrate commits a fugitive criminal to prison, he shall inform such criminal that he will not be surrendered until after the expiration of fifteen days, and that he has a right to apply for a writ of habeas corpus

Upon the expiration of the said fifteen days, or, if a writ of habeas corpus is issued, after the decision of the Court upon the return to the writ, as the case may be, or after such further period as may be allowed in either case by a Secretary of State, it shall be lawful for a Secretary of State, by warrant under his hand and seal to order the fugitive criminal if not delivered on the decision of the Court, to be surrendered to such person as may in his opinion be duly authorized to receive the fugitive criminal by the foreign state from which the requisition for the surrender proceeded, and such fugitive criminal shall be surrendered accordingly

today, and convey within the jurisdiction of such foreign state the criminal mentioned in the warrant and if the criminal escapes out of any custody to which he may be delivered on or in pursuance of such warrant it shall be lawful to retake him in the same manner as any person accused of any crime against the laws of that part of Her Majesty's dominions to which he escapes may be retaken upon an escape

12 If the fugitive criminal who has been committed to prison is not surrendered and conveyed out of the United Kingdom within two months after such committal, or if a writ of habeas corpus is issued, after the decision of the Court upon the return to the writ it shall be lawful for any Judge of one of Her Majesty's Superior Courts at Westminster, upon application made to him by or on behalf of the criminal and upon proof that reasonable notice of the intention to make such application has been given to a Secretary of State, to order the criminal to be discharged out of custody unless sufficient cause is shown to the contrary

of such official seal and shall admit the documents so authenticated by it to be received in evidence without further proof suspend the operation within any such British possession of this Act, or of any part thereof so far as it relates to such foreign state and so long as such law or ordinance continues in force there, and no longer,

THE FACTORIES ACT.

ACT NO XXV OF 1934

Received the assent of the Governor-General on the 20th August, 1934

An Act to consolidate and amend the law regulating labour in factories

WHEREAS it is expedient to consolidate and amend the law regulating labour in factories, It is hereby enacted as follows —

Notes — The Royal Commission of labour in India made a number of recommendations for the amendment of the Factories Act. These were published with their report in July 1931. After examining the present Factories Act, the Commission recommended that certain amendments were received from the Government of India have framed them. They should be properly enforced for the protection of workmen. But if that employer is proceeded against in a Criminal Court for alleged negligence, the matter should be clearly brought home to them. 26 Bom L R 1245-85 Ind Cas 226=26 Cr L J 482

Object of the Act — The object of the Act is to protect human beings from being subjected to unduly long hours of bodily strain of manual labour. It also provides that employees should work in healthy and sanitary conditions so far as the manufacturing process will allow and that precautions should be taken for their safety and for prevention of accidents. In order to obtain the information necessary to ensure its objects are carried out, the Act provides for returns and registers to be kept by the occupier of the factory.
